

UNIONS DEMAND JOHNSON RESIGN

$24,000,000 Relief Plan Passed By State Solons

SESSION IS ADJOURNED EARLY TODAY

Relief Also is Voted to Mortgage Ridden Property Owners of State
EPIC PLAN DEFEATED
Committee Named to Investigate Horse Racing Conditions in State

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 15.—(UP)—A liberalized legislature—acting in a manner that might have been considered revolutionary two years ago—turned out a general relief program today which was devised to aid jobless persons, delinquent taxpayers and mortgage-ridden property owners in California.

The legislature adjourned the special session at 1:30 a. m. today after adopting the controversial unemployment relief bond issue of $24,000,000, a mortgage moratorium act and various minor proposals. The session lasted only 62 1/2 hours.

Gov. Frank P. Merriam said he was satisfied with the accomplishments of the session. Making little mention of changes made in his proposed relief bond issue, he sent a message to the two houses saying:

"The labors of the extraordinary session of the California legislature have been completed, and the results bespeak the active commendation and appreciative recognition of all the people of this state.

"Without material change, and in a form wholly acceptable to me, you have approved a program of emergency relief presented to you in my proclamation calling you to Sacramento.

"By your tireless and devoted attention to the basic needs of those in distress you have rendered a service to your state which will be measured in terms of greater security and comfort for thousands of men, women and children.

"Through your cooperation you have enabled the state administration to extend and strengthen the work of relief which the state government, in cooperation with the United States government, must afford."

He dismissed changes in his $24,000,000 unemployment relief bond act with the remark: "Differences in opinion . . . were not important. . . . They have enabled the governor and legislature to give renewed assurance to the NRA that California desires above all things to maintain a close and harmonious relationship with national relief authorities."

The bond measure will be placed on the November ballot for approval of the electorate.

Epico Plan Lapses
Throughout the special session sympathizers of Upton Sinclair and his Epico plan advanced various proposals which coincided with Sinclair's unemployment relief program. None of them passed.

The legislature, however, did step aside from its reactionary policies when it agreed that the $24,000,000 bond issue should be borne by the state; liberalized measures to aid delinquent taxpayers, and granted an extension of the mortgage moratorium.

Most of the actual work of the session was concentrated between 3 p. m. Friday and 1:30 a. m. Saturday. In that period, the assembly

Young Slayer In Juvenile Court
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Cervino Palva, 16-year-old Portuguese youth facing charges of murder and incest for the death of his two young sisters, will be tried in juvenile court, Justice of the Peace R. P. Talbot ruled today.

Following presentation of birth certificates and testimony of the boy's father, Henry Palva, that Cervino was a minor, Judge Talbot certified the case to juvenile court for trial. No date was set for the hearing, which will be conducted without a jury by Superior Judge Peter J. Shields.

Young Palva allegedly confessed he caused the deaths of his sisters, Mary, 6, and Marian, 7, by locking them in the family icebox after first having had improper relations with both.

FIRST AMERICA'S CUP RACE DECLARED NO CONTEST TODAY

LOS ANGELES COUNTY FAIR OPENED TODAY

Distinguished State and County Officials Open 13th Annual Event

POMONA, Sept. 15.—(UP)—In the presence of distinguished state and county officials, the gates of the thirteenth annual Los Angeles county fair, combined with Riverside and Orange county fairs, were officially thrown open to the public this morning. From that time until the closing at midnight, Sunday, September 30, the huge agricultural and industrial exposition is expected to be the mecca for more than half a million visitors.

Twelve months of preparation on an elaborate scale, the expenditure of more than a quarter million dollars and the transformation of the grounds into a new show place for Southern California form the foundation for this year's show.

Again practically every state in the Union is represented in the 30,000 exhibits, valued at $15,000,000. Prize awards will total $100,000. Again in the agricultural section there are specimens of nearly every fruit and vegetable grown in the civilized world.

Some 7000 head of livestock, poultry, pigeons and rabbits are entered in the livestock department. Responding to popular demand there will be a big dog show on the last three days. The last word in practical invention is found in the industrial display.

A big double junior fair features the exhibits of hundreds of members of 4-H and Future Farmer clubs throughout the Southland. Boy Scouts, Woodcraft Rangers and others also have a part.

Never were the entertainment features more numerous and more varied. Headed by 16 days of horse racing, with the pari-mutuel on week days and the beautiful society horse show the first eight nights, the exposition will offer a great midway and joy zone.

Roman chariot races, miniature auto races, motorcycle races, colorful rifle revues, favorite radio stars in national broadcasts, daredevil stunts, sensational circus acts and countless other attractions round out the program.

BEERY AND HEPBURN HONORED IN ITALY

VENICE, Italy, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Wallace Beery and Katharine Hepburn won the gold medals for the best acting in the film exhibition recently held here, the ruling committee decided today.

"Beery," the committee announced, "succeeded in expressing in the best manner a great personality in the film 'Viva Villa,' while Miss Hepburn did admirable work in the film 'Little Women.'"

A gold medal also was awarded to Walter Disney's animated rabbit cartoons, which were adjudged the best of their class.

The silver medal for the most entertaining film went to Frank Capra's "It Happened One Night."

The biennial trophy for the largest industrial presentation was awarded to the Motion Picture Distributors' Corp. of America.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Lawson Little, Jr., husky insurance salesman of San Francisco and holder of the British amateur title, today won the National Amateur Golf championship by defeating David (Spec) Goldman, a Dallas lathe worker, 8 and 7, in the scheduled 36-hole final.

Roll Of Bills Lost 60 Years Ago Uncovered

STERLING, Ill., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Sixty years ago a workman building a brick wall in front of a safe at the First National bank lost a $40 roll of bills.

Oscar Eversole, tearing down the wall today, found the money in good condition and sent it to the treasury department for exchange.

HALF MILLION FARM LOANS TO ORANGE COUNTY

Second Only to Los Angeles County in Month of August, Revealed

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Orange county was second only to Los Angeles county in amount of loans during the month of August over the entire territory of California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona, according to a statement made here today by President Charles Parker of the Federal Land bank.

Land Bank loans amounting to $291,300 and 44 Land Bank commissioner's loans for $187,000 brought Orange county's quota for August up to $478,300 representing a total of 80 disbursements.

Los Angeles county led the field of the Farm Credit administration's eleventh district with 32 land bank loans for $325,500 and 73 Commissioner's loans amounting to $265,500—total, 105 farm mortgage loans for $594,300. San Joaquin and Tulare counties ranked third and fourth, with totals of $465,300 and $428,500 respectively.

PHANTOM KILLER IS HUNTED BY POLICE

RED WING, Minn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—A "phantom killer" who bound and gagged his victim after the manner of a lurid picture on a detective story magazine cover was sought here today.

Lying beside a trussed body found in a box car was the bizarre magazine cover. The man, garroted exactly as portrayed in the picture, was a grim replica of the artist's creation.

The victim was unidentified. Authorities who accidentally found the body believed it had lain in the car many days. His clothing, all purchased in Minneapolis, was of fashionable cut.

He was described as about 65. His pockets were rifled and a knapsack, in which he carried a few belongings, was lying nearby.

MOTHER INDICTED IN BABE'S DEATH

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Mrs. Constance Kohler, 34, accused of killing her new-born baby by placing an ammonia-soaked towel over its face, today was under indictment by the county grand jury for first degree murder.

The indictment was returned following presentation of evidence by District Attorney Neil R. McAllister, including details of a confession in which the woman assertedly admitted the crime. Deputy sheriffs were assigned to guard Mrs. Kohler at a local hospital.

Meantime, the woman's estranged husband, William Kohler, 44, was held in county jail on a bigamy warrant sworn to by his wife. She charged Kohler was still her husband when he married Velma Moore, 25, at San Rafael last February 10.

NAZI OUTBREAK IN AUSTRIA IS REPORTED NEAR

Uneasiness in Vienna Evident as Troops Sent Out to Borders

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)
VIENNA, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Reports that another Nazi outbreak impends, which might result in Austria's third civil war this year, caused the government to take extraordinary armed precautions today.

Heavy concentrations of Austrian military forces were at the Yugoslavian frontier as a precaution against a push from more than 2,000 Austrian Nazi refugees interned in the neighboring country, the United Press was informed on good authority.

Uneasiness was evident in Vienna. During the two preceding rebellions, more than 2000 persons were killed and wounded in the suppression first of the Socialists in February, then the Nazis in July.

The government, with the aid of foreign powers, thought it had the situation in hand, but its confidence was shaken by the very evidence. Many informed persons predicted another Nazi uprising before the end of the year.

The appeal to the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva by Baron Bergr-Waldeneck, Austrian foreign minister, was significant. He asked earnestly for support of Austrian independence, saying:

"We successfully resisted the attacks of February and July, designed to shake the very foundations of Austrian independence. . . . I appeal to this great assembly to give Austria that support which is necessary to safeguard its own security and facilitate that economic consolidation which must precede that security."

The immediate danger, if any, appears in Yugoslavia, the Austrian Nazis in Germany having been curbed by Chancellor Adolf Hitler because indignant big powers suspected Germany fostered the July putsch.

LINDBERGH'S PLAN TO ATTEND RODEO

WOODWARD, Okla., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Visitors to the hundreds came to Woodward today hoping to see Charles and Anna Lindbergh participate in a rodeo. Provided parts for Lindbergh's damaged plane do not arrive, he and Mrs. Lindbergh will ride mustangs in the opening parade of the annual Pioneer Day celebration.

Some of the visitors came great distances. The town's square was crowded with farm wagons and ranch cars by dawn. The countryside folk had been anticipating the rodeo for months; the presence of the world's most famous flying couple, who made a forced landing on Henry Aikens ranch Thursday, was an added attraction.

The Lindberghs were "just folks" at the Aikens farm. Mrs. Lindbergh helped Mrs. Aikens with breakfast and Lindbergh aided with chores.

BRUSH FIRE STILL RAGES IN CANYON

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Sept. 15.—(UP)—A band of several hundred fire-fighters reported progress today in their battle against two brush fires raging in Riverside and San Diego counties.

The larger fire after denuding 2000 acres of brush land in the Cleveland National forest was reported virtually under control. Three hundred CCC workers and volunteers were fighting the blaze.

Several hundred acres of brush land on Red mountain were blackened by a second fire before it was controlled. A crew of 200 men was reported successful in keeping it within established fire lines.

Rainbow Out In Front At Time Limit

Both British and American Yachts Unable to Finish in 5 1/2 Hours

A BOARD S. S. ARGO, (Via MacKay Radio), Sept. 15.—(UP)—The first race of the America's cup series was declared no contest today as the boats were unable to finish within the prescribed time limit of 5 1/2 hours. Harold S. Vanderbilt's Rainbow, American defender, was leading the T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger Endeavour by about half a mile.

The leading boat was racing for the line so close to the finish it was not certain until the last few minutes whether Rainbow would make it.

The wind began to fall shortly before 4 p. m. (EST) and it then appeared virtually impossible for Rainbow to cross the line in time. The big white Vanderbilt sloop was throwing full canvas before the wind and picking up on the trailing British challenger, but was a mile away with only ten minutes to go.

The no-contest ball was dropped by the committee yacht when the American boat was half a mile from the finish, with Endeavour about three-eighths of a mile behind her.

Endeavour and Rainbow were under way at 10:40 a. m. today (E. S. T.) in their first race for the America's cup. Rainbow was across the line nearly a minute ahead.

Rainbow, Harold S. Vanderbilt's sloop, had better way on at the preparatory signal and was out at the buoy while Endeavour, the British challenger, was close under the stern of the committee boat.

Rainbow carried mainsail and Genoa jib and staysail. About two minutes before the start, Endeavour shifted from double head rig to a large Genoa, losing much of her way. Vanderbilt took Rainbow on the port tack, and was forced to pinch Endeavour to keep the committee boat.

A few minutes after the start Vanderbilt brought Rainbow about on a starboard tack to keep his opponent covered.

The northerly flank of the great excursion fleet was patrolled by coast guard vessels, while destroyers controlled the southern flank. The spectator fleet was in perfect control, with eight airplanes flying over the excursion boats.

Half an hour after the start Endeavour had improved her position to such an extent that it appeared she might be able to cross Rainbow's bow. Endeavour's Genoa was drawing better than the defender's and she was footing faster, although somewhat to leeward.

At 11:30 the yachts were well over toward Cuttyhunk Island, with it still a question whether Endeavour could cross Rainbow's bow.

Rain had begun to fall and the wind freshened slightly. Rainbow came about on the port tack at 11:32 and Endeavour almost immediately followed suit. The maneuver furnished no proof which yacht was ahead.

At 11:45 Rainbow, apparently favored by a two-point shift in the breeze to the eastward, appeared to have recovered the lead, as they left the Vineyard Haven lightship to port, however, they were still a long way from the mark.

At this time the breeze had freshened to about nine knots. If the president was getting any sort of view of the contest it must have been through a pair of powerful binoculars. The yacht Nourmahal, where Mr. Roosevelt was watching the race, was firmly imbedded in the center of the spectator fleet.

Rainbow rounded the windward mark at 1:42:40 and Endeavour at 1:45:25. Rainbow was somewhat tardy in breaking out her spinnaker. Her crew set a parachute spinnaker but 21-4 minutes were devoted to the task. It took Endeavour's crew only a minute and half to set a similar sail when she finally rounded the mark.

Soon after the boats rounded the mark the spectator fleet began closing in astern. It seemed certain some of the big power craft would interfere with the breeze and Endeavour.

COMMITTEE TO ACT ON EFFORT TO HALT PROBE

Moves to Retard Inquiry by Munitions Group to Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(UP)—A "sweeping and complete" investigation of the munitions industry in the face of "large effort to slow up the investigation" was promised today by Sen. Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D., chairman of the senate investigating committee.

Referring to efforts to retard the inquiry, Nye said: "There is talk to the effect that the revelations being brought to light are quite apt to start a war. One can guess where this talk and others like it comes from."

"The facts are that if all the world will just hold its temper and finally know the fact about this war trade, nations will become very angry and will want to fight. But they will see clearly that their fight is not with other nations but with their own merchants and agents who are bent upon profiting even though their profits be dependent upon their ability to arm friend against friend and build fear and suspicion on every hand."

The senate committee decided today to postpone disclosures about political activities of the Du Pont Company of Delaware until after the November elections.

Hand in Politics
Investigators, it was learned, possess evidence showing that the famous powder firm and its chief officers contributed heavily in recent campaigns.

The committee was said to have decided that publication of contributions at this time might embarrass candidates for election to the senate and house in November.

Chairman Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D., brought from Irene Du Pont, vice president of the Delaware company, a statement that although he voted for President Roosevelt in 1932 he believes now that the constitution is "in the scrap heap."

Irene told the committee he believed the government was responsible for the depression.

Recall Du Ponts
"I don't believe a bureaucracy can be effective," he said. "The only way to have luxury is to keep the government out of business."

Nye said the Du Ponts probably would be recalled when the committee convened for further hearings later in the fall. Meanwhile, he prepared to start examination of the United Aircraft and Transport corporation, involving negotiations with South American and other foreign governments.

Next week the committee will wind up the first phase of its fast-moving inquiry.

Nye told newspapermen he hoped that by the time the committee met again, public opinion would be aroused to such a point that government regulation on the munitions industry would be regarded as the only solution of the problem of removing profits from war.

Heiress Will Keep Job As Waitress

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Josie Davison, 26, says she is going to continue to be a waitress in a cafe here in spite of the fact she has inherited $150,000.

Josie told newspapermen she had known for 10 days she had inherited $150,000 from her late husband's estate but wouldn't tell anyone for fear they wouldn't like her when they found out she was wealthy.

Her sudden wealth makes no difference to her, Josie says, and she said she intended to continue to "deal 'em off the arm."

JUSTICE DEPT. TO PROBE INTO SHIP DISASTER

Information of Communist Activities Turned Over to Agents

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Information purporting to link the burning of the liner Morro Castle with alleged Communist activities has been given to the department of justice for investigation, the United Press learned today.

It was reported the evidence was turned over to the department by Dickinson N. Hoover, chairman of the department of commerce inquiry into the disaster.

The purported evidence was understood to disclose alleged Communist activities bearing on the disaster and was reported to have come to Hoover's investigations from private sources.

Hoover, who returned to Washington from New York to report to Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper on progress of his investigations, would not give particulars of the information.

It was reported that other data unearthed in the investigation has been handed to the department of justice for investigation of possible criminal charges.

Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox today quashed the subpoenas under which Ward line attorneys would have been required to surrender to a federal grand jury the statements which they obtained from members of the crew and passengers of the burned liner Morro Castle.

Judge Cox held that these statements, obtained by Ward line lawyers from survivors of the disaster, were private memoranda and should be regarded as the work papers of the lawyers.

SAYS STRATOSPHERE LIMIT IS REACHED

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Man has reached the limit of his explorations into the stratosphere, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, physicist, and Nobel prize winner, declared today.

The internationally known scientist, on route to London to be honored by the International Union of Pure and Applied Physics, dashed the hopes of balloonists who have dreamed of floating 20 miles into the "land beyond the blue."

"The present record of about 12 miles probably will stand forever," he said.

Science, he added, now has about two-thirds of the information it sought when the first stratosphere flight was undertaken.

Dr. Millikan is president of the California Institute of Technology.

ANDREW MELLON IS ACCUSED OF FRAUD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Charging fraud through alleged fictitious stock sales, the treasury today demanded that Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of treasury, pay income tax assessment and penalty on his 1931 earnings totaling $3,075,103.23.

The demand was contained in an answer filed before the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals by Robert H. Jackson, assistant general counsel for the internal revenue bureau, in reply to a previous petition by Mellon seeking release from the assessment on the grounds that he had over-paid his tax in 1931 by $139,045.

RADIO TALK AROUSES IRE OF LEADERS

Chairman of Strike Committee Pact Did Not Prejudice Strike Right

"HAS EMPLOYER MIND"
Recovery Chief in Address Charges Walkout Absolute Violation of Code

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Textile strike leaders demanded today that Gen. Hugh S. Johnson resign as National Recovery administrator because of his speech in New York last night in which he accused the textile union of bad faith in calling the walkout.

Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the special strike committee acting as spokesman for the United Textile workers, voiced the resignation demand and accused Johnson of not telling the truth, of bad faith and of idleness while "the textile workers were being slowly strangled to death."

Johnson said the walkout was an "absolute violation" of an agreement with the government. Gorman added that Johnson has "the employer mind" and that he thinks of terms of troops and robots.

Truth Not Told
"Taking advantage of a meeting called to discuss reorganization of the NRA, General Johnson in New York last night delivered another in his series of attacks on organized labor," Gorman said. "It was a despicable piece of business. I don't like to say that General Johnson is a liar, but I think he is."

Johnson "is about the last one who should charge breach of faith," Gorman said. On June 3 an agreement was reached between General Johnson, the Cotton Textile Institute and the union, but that its first clause read "this agreement does not prejudice the right to strike."

"The agreement covered hours, wages and differentials. It provided that a study should be made by NRA research and planning division."

Gorman said there were to be reports on hours, wages, differentials and the stretch-out, but that the wage report was two weeks late, and held that there could be no increases. The differential report has not yet been made, he said, while the stretch-out report still is pending.

Claims Violation
Johnson declared today in a speech at a NRA rally in New York that the strike was called in violation of an agreement with him made when a previous strike threatened last June.

"If such agreements of organized labor are worth no more than this one," he said, "then that institution is not such a responsible instrumentality as can make contracts on which this country can agree."

He asserted that the cotton textile industry was the "very last place in this country in which a strike should be ordered," citing re-employment of 140,000 workers and increases of hourly wages rates up to 79 per cent.

"Now remember that General Johnson is a member of the cotton textile code authority," Gorman added. "Presumably he feels that he must stand by the employers who are his associates on the code authority but that is not

COEDS CHASED INTO STREETS BY BLAZE
BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Thirty University of California co-eds, clad in flimsy nightclothing, fled in terror early today as fire swept through their boarding house at 2435 College Ave.

Awakened by smoke, 17-year-old Helen Cohn spread the alarm among the girls. The co-eds hastily and rushed screaming from the building. None of them was injured.

Firemen confined the flames to the interior of the structure with damage estimated at $10,000. It was believed the fire started from a cigarette.

RELIEF PLAN IS PASSED BY STATE SOLONS

by acted upon 21 bills and resolutions. The senate, organized and pro-administration from the start, passed its measures swiftly, and was idle during most of the Friday night session, awaiting action on mortgage moratorium bills.

The assembly spent nearly three hours working on the unemployment relief bill. EPIC supporters led by William Moseley Jones of Los Angeles tried to add a rider giving the state the power to invoke the rule of eminent domain to confiscate private property for relief of destitution. This proposed amendment was defeated 43 to 10, with Assemblymen Boyle, Cassidy, Dempster, Hunt, Jones, King, McCarthy, O'Connor, Rogers and Woodwine voting "aye."

Bills Argued

Another four-hour period was devoted to arguing the merits of two mortgage moratorium bills. One, presented by C. Ray Robinson, Merced, extended the present moratorium to February 1. The other, offered by Jones, included interest as well as principal and provided that district attorneys should handle court cases for persons unable to pay attorney's fees. The assembly passed both bills after making minor amendments. The senate, in turn, adopted Robinson's bill, but tabled Jones'.

Closing hour of the session was devoted to cleaning up resolutions, the most important of which authorized the assembly to appoint a committee of three to investigate horse racing conditions, determine why more tracks are not operating and why revenues to the state have been far below those anticipated. It will report to the January session.

Another resolution to appoint a committee to study self-help co-operatives and investigate the possibility of lending state aid, passed without opposition in the assembly. A proposal to study the problem of dividing California into the sovereignties was tabled.

The session, in the opinion of observers, accomplished the purposes of Merriam in setting up a specific unemployment relief program.

Thirty-nine of the legislators attended their last session. Most of those 39—30 in the assembly and nine in the senate—did not run for re-election this year.

ROMANTIC PLAY ON STAGE AT PASADENA

PASADENA, Sept. 15.—Marked by the best skill of Willis Knighton, art director of the Pasadena Playhouse, the elaborate revival of "The Prisoner of Zenda" carries over into a second week there next Monday. Beauty of setting in a royal environment are predominant in the play, as is well remembered by those who recall the national furor over "The Prisoner of Zenda" when it was the most popular book, and again the reigning favorite of playgoers.

Irene Biller, one of the foremost European actresses, will make her American stage debut at the Pasadena Playhouse on Tuesday, September 25, in the comedy "By Candle-Light." Miss Biller, who speaks several languages fluently, has only a slight accent in our tongue and it will add piquancy to her character in this play.

Coast Scientists Seek Ancient Life

LAKEVIEW, Ore. — (UP)—Six scientists from the University of Oregon and Stanford University today were exploring for evidences of prehistoric life in the Guano Lake ranch region.

They hoped to discover how far north the "Great Basin" culture of prehistoric races was established. A wide variety of Indian rock writings and other signs of prehistoric races have been found in the region.

Guardsmen Down in Textile Strike

A member of the Rhode Island National Guard, called out to stop wide disorders in the eastern textile strike, receive attention from a companion after being slugged by a club during Saylesville riots.

PACKING HOUSE MEN CONVICTED OF SALE OF BANNED FRUIT

Attention was called today by Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs to provisions of the agricultural code, under which S. E. Fusco and Jack Marola, foreman of the Fusco Fruit company's citrus packing house at Fullerton, were found guilty Thursday of selling oranges that were not free from decay, within the tolerance of the code.

Fusco and Marola, against whom charges were filed by Kenneth Kessler, county agricultural inspector, were found guilty by Justice Halsey I. Spence, of Fullerton, and received suspended sentences of $25 fine each, or 12 1/2 days in jail.

The defendants contended that the fruit upon which the complaint was based had been sold for by-products; but since the purchaser had no permit to transport substandard fruit, and no entry was made of the transaction on the record of by-product sales, which is required to be kept by packing houses selling such fruit, according to Tubbs, the court refused to acquit them.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Sept. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodington have returned from a stay of three days at Camp Angelus, which they made in company with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hurst and daughter of Los Angeles have returned there following several days spent with Mrs. Hurst's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Moore.

Mrs. David Holtsclaw has as her houseguest a friend, Miss Rosina Grimshaw of Cedar City, Utah.

A luncheon of 1921 Matrons of the Eastern Star was held Friday in Los Angeles at the home of one of the members of the matron's organization, and Mrs. Minnie Pyle and Mrs. Lena Heaston attended from here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McClary of Hollywood came Wednesday to Smeltzer, taking home with them their daughter, Patricia McClary, who spent some time with the Charles Applebury family. Mr. and Mrs. McClary were guests for the day of Mr. and Mrs. George Applebury.

NEW SOPRANO TO SING IN OPERA

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—Contrary to previous announcements, "Manon," the opera to be presented at Shrine auditorium on November 10 under the Behmer-Merola management, will be sung in French. Ninon Vallin, newest French soprano to visit this country, will sing the title role instead of Lotte Lehmann, who will be unable to reach the coast in time for the Los Angeles series.

"Carmen" given on November 8, will also be sung in French, and will be the vehicle by which Mile. Vallin will be introduced to a Pacific coast audience. Well known and in demand in the European opera houses, in South America and Canada, the singer also has established a reputation as a concert artist.

Lovers of German opera will welcome Elisabeth Reiberg in "The Bartered Bride," which will be the first event of the series, while those liking their opera in English, will find Doris Kenyon and Nelson Eddy, American artists, in "The Secret of Suzanne" much to their liking. The vocal part of "Le Coq d'Or," given the same evening as "The Secret," November 6, will also be sung in English, the ballet pantomime the musical embellishment.

INSURANCE MEN GO TO CHICAGO

Several members of the firm of Hays, Hudson and Bradstreet, general agents for Southern California of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, left today by automobile for Chicago. They are making the trip to attend a conference of general agents and managers, scheduled for the Edgewater Beach hotel next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Included in the party are Rolla Hays Jr., manager of the Santa Ana office of the company, William Gene Hays and R. H. Bradstreet of the Los Angeles office, and Mrs. Bradstreet. Rolla Hays Jr. is scheduled to address the Chicago meeting.

The New England company will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its incorporation on April 3 next, with a large gathering at the Boston headquarters, and at that time Rolla Hays Jr. will head a party from his firm to take part in the event.

RAINBOW OUT IN FRONT AT END OF TIME

deavour being astern would be certain to suffer the more.

Impeding craft were quickly headed off the course and Endeavour showed almost immediate improvement. She was, however, experiencing difficulty with her big spinnaker, Annie Oakley so called because of a row of round holes down its center intended to allow dead air to escape and keep it filled properly.

The clew of the big kite trailed in the water almost half the time. At 2:07 Endeavour was close enough to Rainbow to cause the defender some trouble and Rainbow was not able to keep her canvas filled properly. The race at that time was at a critical point.

PEDDLER ARRAIGNED

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor child, Louis Sharkey, fruit peddler, was arraigned in the Santa Ana justice court today, had his preliminary examination set for September 25, at 9 a. m., and had bail fixed at $500.

SOCIETY

Club Executive Plans Enjoyable Luncheon For Officers

With members of her executive board as guests, Mrs. R. G. Carman, new president of Santa Ana Woman's club, yesterday entertained at luncheon in her home, 1815 North Ross street, as an introduction to a club year to have its formal opening in less than two weeks.

Mrs. Carman's home provided an inviting retreat on a warm afternoon, and a salad luncheon was refreshing, served at a table laid with heavy thread lace over pink. This harmonized with slim tapers surrounding deep pink water lilies floating in a crystal bowl.

The invitation list included Mrs. Carman's vice president, Mrs. Earl Waycott, and her remaining officers, Mrs. William Whitehead, Mrs. J. D. Watkins, Mrs. W. M. Wells, Mrs. R. A. McMahon, Mrs. G. N. Coon, Mrs. P. B. Hornbeak and Mrs. E. C. Wilson, and two special guests, Mrs. Elizabeth Rife of Cleveland, Ohio, house-guest of her daughter, Mrs. Watkins, and Mrs. Emmett Elliott.

Much of the afternoon conversation related to club affairs, the district board meeting to be held soon in Laguna Beach, the district convention in Arrowhead, and early autumn events of the Woman's club. These included the benefit garden party bridge to be held next Wednesday afternoon in the H. D. McIlvain home, 2448 Riverside drive, when Mrs. Hornbeak and her ways and means committee will preside; the opening club reception on September 25 in Veterans' hall, and the plans of Philanthropy section members to raise money by a fancy work sale, to continue their charitable program.

Music Club

Marlan Clayton was taken in as a member of Junior Music club at a meeting of the group held this week in the home of Maxine and Dick Hill, 1229 West Eighth street.

The young hosts were in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Marie Stanton Eyerly made a talk on Mozart, after which open discussion was held. Ruth Hays was at the piano for group singing. Piano solos were played by Eugenia Bond, De Lacy Cook, Ruth Hawley and Maxine Hill. Stewart and Richard Gibson gave a duet.

The next meeting will be held with Marlan and Maxine Waffie, Valencia street.

You and Your Friends

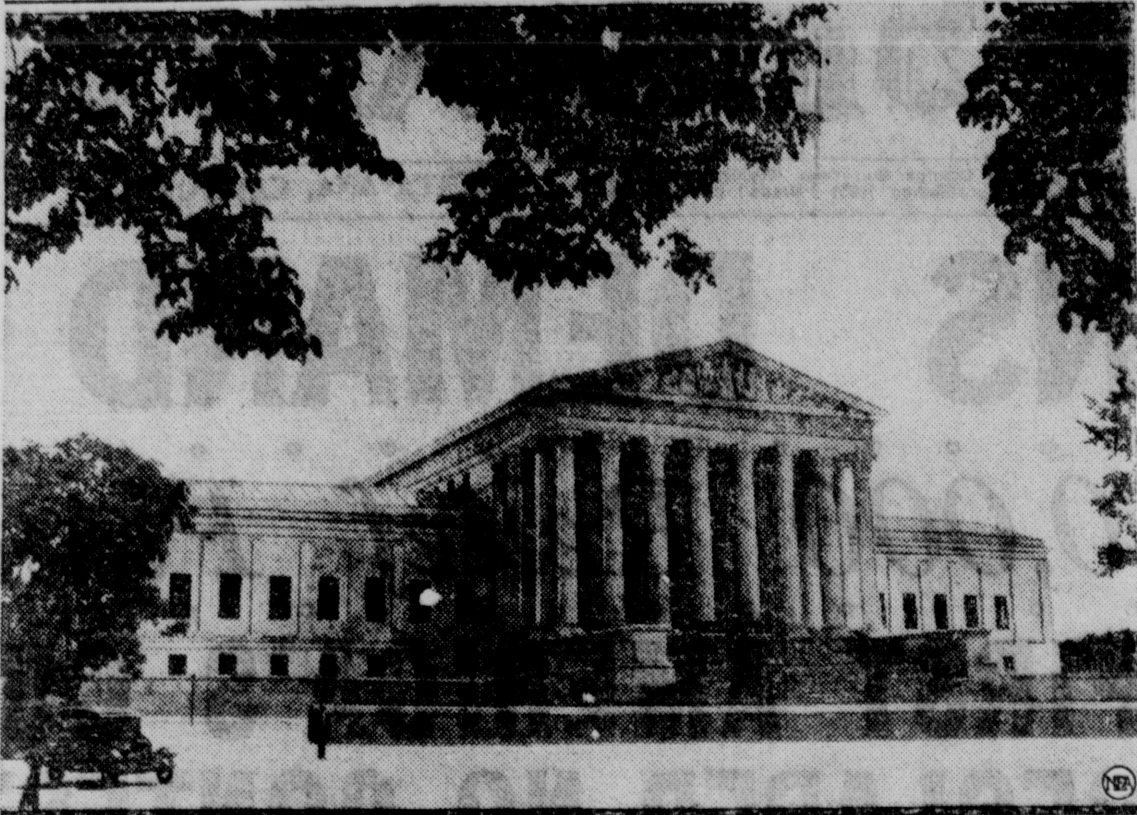

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Drumm, 1109 North Broadway, returned home Thursday on a trip to Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., and other points. They traveled north by automobile in company with Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Burchiel of Santa Monica, going by way of the Redwood highway. The Burchiels remained in the north.

Edward Sparks, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sparks, 917 Louise street, left this week for Salt Lake City to enter the University of Utah.

Returning from a visit in Fresno, Miss Lillie Forsberg of the office staff of Gerrard Brothers; Miss Eunice McGowan of the Merchants' association, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Sinclair Brown of Fullerton, formerly Miss Anita Atchley of this city, may recall courtesies extended them as guests with Hamilton Rende of Los Angeles, of the Misses Evelyn Norris and Billie Atchley in Fresno. Miss Billie Atchley went to the northern city two years ago after a nine year's residence in Santa Ana. Her house guests were extensively feted by Fresno friends during their stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Scoble, whose marriage in Ingleswood was an event of recent date, entertained this week in their home on Washington avenue, Mr. and Mrs. John Cathcart and son of Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. James Bell of Los Angeles; Mrs. W. E. Child, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lehart and Miss Betty Ruth Lehart of Willowbrook; Mrs. Ruth Cathcart and son George of Orange. The social evening concluded with the serving of refreshments at tables decorated with pink and white flowers.

First Home of Its Own Built for U.S. Supreme Court

For the first time in its almost 150 years of existence, the U. S. supreme court, after meeting in seven places, will have a building of its own, shown above, near completion. This majestic white marble palace will be the scene of the deliberations of the nine men who are the last legal word in this country. Appropriation for the edifice was nearly $10,000,000. Private rooms for each justice, law libraries, reading, conference, and lawyers' rooms are provided.

CARPENTERS' UNION PICTNICS AT PARK

Celebrating the first anniversary of its institution, members of Santa Ana Carpenters' Union No. 1816, their wives, and friends enjoyed a picnic at Irvine park last evening, with a pot luck dinner at 6:30.

Following the dinner, the party adjourned to the pavilion where dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, music being provided by Babcock's orchestra. More than 200 persons participated in the evening's festivities.

Although formed only a year ago, the Carpenters' union is a lusty infant, with 73 members now on the rolls, according to Norris Stone, secretary, who declared this record would have been greatly exceeded had it not been for economic conditions of the times and unemployment.

ABBAY SCHEDULES 2 DEATH HEARINGS

Two inquests have been scheduled by Coroner Earl Abbey for Monday, one at 10 a. m. in San Clemente for G. W. Kimball, 25, sailor killed in an auto crash at Dana point yesterday and the other at 3:30 p. m. for Antonio Ramirez, 30, Stanton Mexican killed by a street car in Santa Ana Tuesday, at the Smith and Tutthill funeral home.

The Kimball inquest will be held from the Divil funeral home. The victim was killed instantly when a front tire blew out on his car, while his companion, C. R. Harkins, 20, also of the U. S. S. Aurora in San Diego, is still confined in the Santa Ana Valley hospital with a broken hand.

Ramirez died Thursday night from injuries received when he was struck by the interurban car at Fourth and Artesia streets. Funeral services were held this morning from his home in Stanton under the direction of Smith and Tutthill's.

NEW MEDICAL PLAY AT PADUA HILLS

CLAREMONT, Sept. 15.—Claire Parrish has kept alive the present vogue for "medical-dramatics" by her latest play, "The Doctor Said No." The general trend, however, has been to point out the trials and tribulations of the profession, and there has been no oversupply of humor inserted. "The Doctor Said No" has humor in large quantities, together with the part of the doctor acting as pivot in the affairs of a young man whose future is jeopardized by a blond movie queen.

The play, an original, will be given its initial production at the Little Theater in Padua Hills on Monday evening, September 17, and continues for a run of two weeks, with the regular Padua Players' schedule of Monday to Friday, inclusive, in force.

CYPRESS

CYPRESS, Sept. 15.—The Rev. H. Ransome, pastor of the Cypress church of the Nazarenes, and Mrs. Ransome, have taken a residence in Pasadena for the coming school term. The Rev. Mr. Ransome is to attend college in Pasadena.

A variety of topics will be considered at the meeting of the chamber of commerce scheduled for the evening of September 18 at the school house including a continued discussion of the possibility of the formation of a Boy Scout troop, and the problem of a sign and drainage work.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Shirley are entertaining as their house guest, Miss F. E. Shirley, of Pennsylvania. Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Hasselblad and family, of South Dakota, are guests of Mrs. Hasselblad's parents.

WILL ROGERS says:

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Budapest for breakfast and London for dinner. I have reached in my pocket for my passport in so many different countries today that I am all in. Crossed Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Austria, France, Belgium and England.

Poland upset Europe at the League of Nations more yesterday than anything that's happened over here. You never lack for excitement, there is twenty countries over here in a bunch, all thinking of some trick to pull on the others. They do love each other.

our conception of the duties of a public official.

Attacks McMahon

"General Johnson attacked President Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers, charging that President McMahon did not keep his word. President McMahon kept his word and he battled for the textile workers, not against them as Johnson has done."

Gorman said it seems to be "the belief in informed quarters that General Johnson is slated to go shortly anyway, but he ought to go now."

"The general has suddenly gone childish" in accusing Norman Thomas of circulating among union convention delegates and inducing them to vote for the strike, Gorman said.

Gorman said he had been advised that the wool sorters have voted to join the strike.

He called the walkout situation "fine" today. He said that on Monday there would be a substantial additional shutting down of mills and that new organizers were being placed at strategic points.

FEAR DEER HUNTER TRAPPED BY BLAZE

SAN JOSE, Calif., Sept. 15.—(UP)—J. S. Stephens, Palo Alto deer hunter, was feared trapped today by a timber and brush fire raging near Madrone Springs, 30 miles southeast of here in the Mt. Hamilton range.

Stephens has been missing since Thursday when he left the hunting party of his son and Dr. H. M. Slater.

Two hundred C. C. C. workers were fighting the blaze, while a sheriff's posse sought Stephens.

LEGION POSTS HOLD JOINT INSTALLATION

Newly elected officers of the 15 American Legion posts in Orange county were sworn in at a large joint installation party, held here last night at Veterans hall.

The affair was staged under auspices of the Orange County Council, with President George Rickford of Orange, as master of ceremonies.

The installation ceremonies were conducted by Homer Chailloux of Los Angeles, immediate past commander of the state Legion organization, who delivered an interesting address on Americanism to the large gathering, which included not only representatives from Orange county posts but many outside visitors as well as from Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Diego, and other cities.

Announcement was made that the Legion Auxiliaries of the county will hold a similar joint installation of officers on the evening of Friday, September 28 with Mrs. Marjorie Danielson of Redlands as installing officer.

Following the installation, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Among the new post commanders installed last night were the following: Santa Ana, J. B. Castek; Orange, Robert P. Graham; Anaheim, John E. Waters; Fullerton, George Askey; Garden Grove, Ben Lieberman; La Habra, L. E. Proud.

JAM AND JELLY CAMPAIGN IS HELD SUCCESS

Santa Ana housewives are contributing generously of jams, jellies, and canned fruits to war veterans in hospitals, and there is every indication the goal of 500 glasses of the delicacy will be exceeded today, Mrs. Fannie Reeves, chairman of the Legion Auxiliary drive committee, said today.

From every part of town, donations poured into the Legion hall yesterday and today. Calls were made at home for donations which were announced by telephone but could not be delivered personally. As soon as received, the glasses and jars were packed in boxes by the hard-working members of Mother Reeves' committee for transportation to the veterans hospital at San Fernando tomorrow.

Up to this morning, approximately four hundred glasses of jelly and jars of jam and fruits had been contributed, with many more expected this afternoon and evening.

"The people of Santa Ana have always supported us generously in our effort to provide needed things for veterans," said Mrs. Reeves today, "and we are very much pleased with the widespread response to this annual jam-and-jelly drive. It is a great satisfaction to know that so many people are able and willing to make these worthy contributions to make life more pleasant for some of those who served and suffered in the war."

ANNUAL MARRIAGE OF YOUNG ELOPERS

The wedding of a 14-year-old girl and a 17-year-old boy, who eloped from Corona and were wed at Olive last April 23, was annulled by Superior Judge H. G. Ames at a hearing late yesterday, the boy's father, H. H. Norton, appearing as petitioner on behalf of his son, Nicholas Norton.

Neither the youthful bridegroom nor his still more youthful bride, Donna Dyer, had consent of their parents to the marriage, it was stated. The girl's mother, Mrs. J. W. Dyer, acting as guardian of the daughter, was granted restoration of the girl's maiden name.

Police News

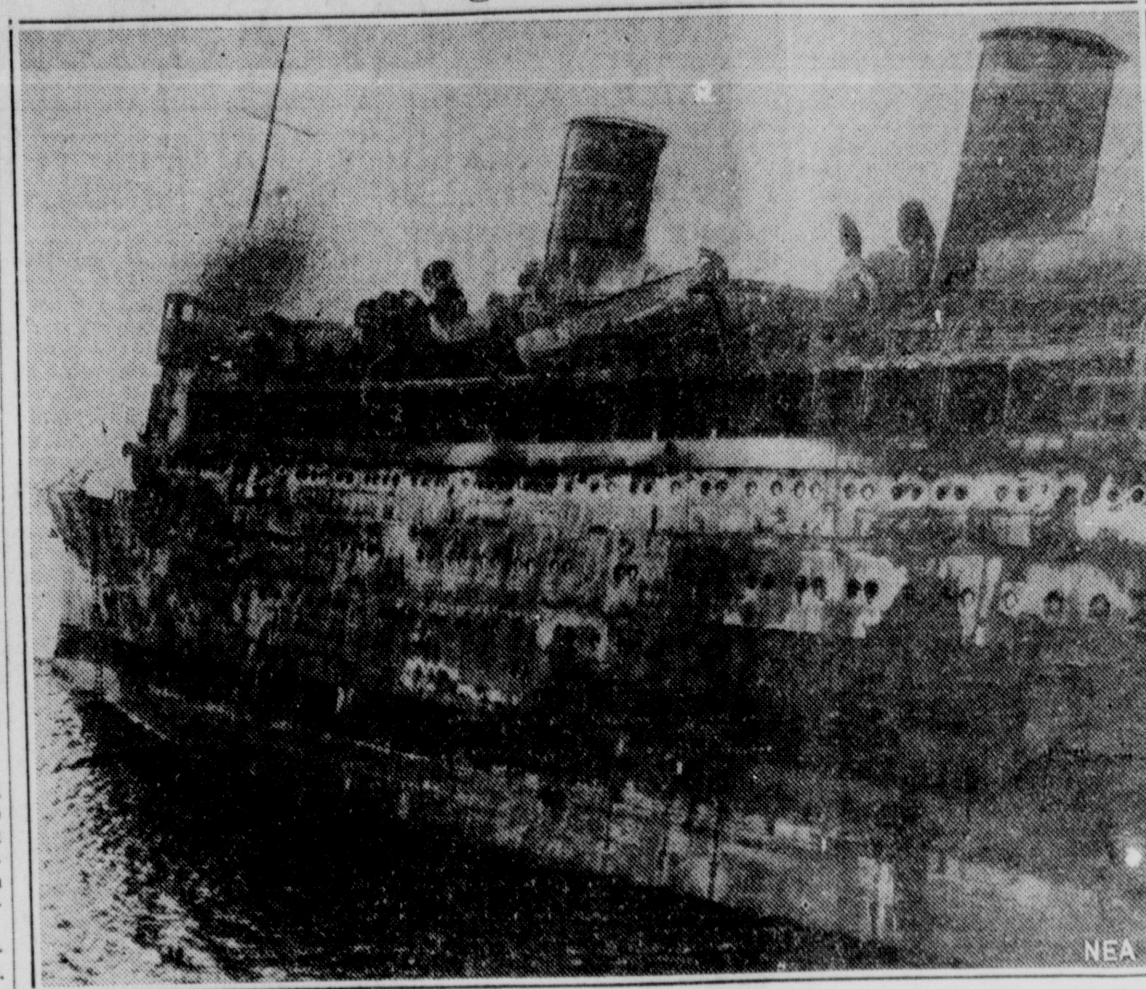

Frank Ryan, 39, Azusa, arrested and booked at the county jail last evening for non-support of a minor child, was released later after posting $300 bond.

Arlan B. Clark, 32, Buena Park, was jailed by Constable Ed Marion of Anaheim last night for disturbing the peace.

Fred Flores, 27, 917 Logan street, whose 10-day term for drunkenness expired today, was rebooked at the jail on a bench warrant from the Santa Ana police court for another drunkenness complaint.

Arthur Hickenhiser, concluding a 30-day term for violation, was rebooked at the county jail today on a petty theft charge by Chief Criminal Deputy Merle Dean.

Disaster's Flaming Hand Brands Ship's Hull

It requires only a vivid imagination to reconstruct from this closeup of the Morro Castle's hull the immensity of the disaster that overtook it. Its metal plates are laid bare by flames that identified it as one of the stateroom portholes and voraciously consumed the glistening paint that identified it as one of the best-maintained ships on the seas. The intensity of the flames that trapped passengers in their state-rooms can be judged from the twisted and charred hulks of life-boats left hanging in their davits because the unbearably furnace heat made launching impossible.

Oil Promoter Asks Probation On Bad Pay Check Charge

Cecil A. Crumley, 33, Long Beach real estate and oil promoter, who became involved in payroll difficulties while promoting oil drilling operations at Brea, applied for probation yesterday when he appeared before Superior Judge G. K. Seovel for sentence, following his conviction of issuing a fraudulent pay check of $49.32 to E. T. Adams of Fullerton, a workman.

Hearing of Crumley's probation plea was set for September 28. At his trial Thursday he was acquitted of a second charge, involving a check for $41.60, issued to Carl Ableiter of Fullerton. The court commented that the evidence of fraudulent intention in the second case was less positive than in the first count, and Crumley was given the benefit of the doubt.

Crumley also was recently convicted in Fullerton justice court of a misdemeanor check offense, but his appeal was submitted to Judge H. G. Ames in superior court yesterday.

MANY VISITORS EXPECTED FOR PENSION MEET

One thousand visitors or more are expected in Santa Ana tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to attend the old-age pension meeting at the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl to be addressed by Dr. F. E. Townsend, it was declared today by J. T. Nichols, Orange county manager of the pension movement.

Nichols has been informed that fully 200 will come from Los Angeles, and 300 are due in an auto caravan from San Diego. Everyone is invited to attend, Nichols said today.

"This may be our last opportunity to see and hear Dr. Townsend, originator of the Townsend old-age revolving pension plan, for many months," Nichols said today.

"He is going East in the near future to confer with national leaders at Washington in behalf of the Townsend plan, and there are so many demands for his appearance throughout the eastern states that he may not be back here for several months."

"This big Santa Ana meeting is the largest, and probably the last, meeting to be held before Dr. Townsend's departure, and anyone wishing to hear the latest information on the old-age pension movement should be on hand by 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon."

Nichols announced today that J. F. Burke, publisher of The Register, had consented to act as chairman of the meeting and introduce Dr. Townsend. Other speakers on the program will include Dr. Frank Dyer, national lecturer, and C. E. Smith, national organizer of Townsend clubs, who is now assisting Nichols in organizing local Townsend clubs throughout Orange, Riverside, and San Bernardino counties.

SILVER ACRES

SILVER ACRES, Sept. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. William Tussaint, of San Diego, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hubert at their home on Verano street.

Mrs. Helene Hickman Davis has as her house guests, Mrs. Grace Simpson and her daughter Helen, who are visiting here from Mississippi.

FIGHT VICTIM IN HOSPITAL; MAN ARRESTED

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit bodily harm, James McKenna, 22, familiarly known as the "gorilla man" of the "hobo jungles" in the Santiago creek bed was arrested this morning and booked at the county jail shortly before noon by Orange officers in connection with a fight in the hobo camp Thursday night.

The case first came to the attention of authorities when John McCarthy, 32, also of the hobo camp, was found in his shack Friday in a serious condition from a fight the night before. He was removed to the county hospital later by friends and a search was started for McKenna, who was said to have assaulted McCarthy, a semi-invalid.

Chief George Franzen and Constable George Bartley took McKenna into custody today and will arraign him Monday before Judge A. W. Swartz of Orange.

"LOVE CAPTIVE" IS MID-WEEK FEATURE

The first-run film on the mid-week bill at Walker's State theater this week is "The Love Captive," with Gloria Stuart and Nils Asther in the featured roles. It will be paired with "Meaneat Gal in Town," a comedy, on the program for Wednesday and Thursday.

"The Love Captive" tells the story of an unscrupulous physician who affects his cures and conquests by hypnotism and of his rise to fame and fortune through the efforts of a press agent whom he has successfully treated.

Two new comedy teams are presented in "Meaneat Gal in Town." They are Zasu Pitts and El Brendel and Pert Kelton and James Gleason. Skeets Gallagher also has a role good for many laughs as a serio-comic villain. The story concerns the romantic and economic adventures of five persons in a small town.

The bill is completed with a short subject, "Our Noble Ancestors."

Grants Probation To Drunk Driver

Lee D. Sharp, who was arrested at Brea for drunk driving September 2, was granted probation for one year when he appeared late yesterday before Superior Judge James L. Allen, after previously pleading guilty and asking probation.

Fiermonte To Fight Friday

Former Resident Of Mesa Succumbs

Mrs. Eleanor Wilkerson, 36, former resident of Costa Mesa, died yesterday morning at Calexico, she is survived by her husband, John Wilkerson; her father, J. H. Monroe, of Hollywood; two sisters, Mrs. Grace Boyd, of Costa Mesa, and Mrs. Esther Copeny, of San Mateo, and one brother, Harold, of El Centro.

Services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. from the Dixon chapel in Costa Mesa, the Rev. W. L. Lowe officiating, with interment to follow in Fairhaven cemetery.

To Raise Fund for Crippled Children

Plans for the drive for funds for the Crippled Children's Relief Association, Inc., which is to open October 1, were laid yesterday at the meeting of the group in Hughes case, Fullerton, where Mrs. Oscar Renner, of Anaheim, presided for Earl S. Morrow, president, who was absent.

Two guests attended the meeting, Mrs. Marion Dewey and Mrs. Mabel Dixon, teachers of crippled children in the county.

THREE INJURED YESTERDAY IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Three persons were hurt in three wrecks yesterday which were reported to traffic authorities in Orange county.

Miss Joe Nyholm and Billie Roberts, both of the Hi-Hi cafe on the 101 highway, were slightly injured yesterday afternoon when their car struck a curb on Santa Ana boulevard. They were given first aid treatment at the Orange county hospital.

A. M. Knelp, 27, 115 West South street, Anaheim, was hurt yesterday in a wreck on the 101 highway south of Anaheim, when his car and a machine driven by Victor C. LaMont, 22, 149 North Lemon street, collided headon. Knelp had started to pass a hay truck driven by E. E. Spears of Los Angeles, it was reported by officers.

John A. Allen, 428 North Lemon street, Orange, narrowly escaped injury last night when the steering mechanism on his car locked and caused the machine to run off North Main street in the 2500 block. One wheel of the car was smashed and fenders and bumper were broken.

ABANDON PROGRAM OF VETERAN GROUPS

The Constitution day patriotic program previously scheduled for Monday evening by the Newport Beach American Legion post has been postponed until further notice, it was announced today by Harry S. Pickard, commander of Jack Fisher post, Disabled War Veterans.

Pickard said that Santa Ana will be well represented tomorrow at the Disabled Veterans picnic to be held at Inglewood park, Los Angeles, many from here having signified their intention to attend this event.

Robbers Remove Stop Signs While Robbing Station

Thieves who robbed the Shell service station at Fullerton road and Central avenue, La Habra, some time after 9 o'clock last night made sure they wouldn't be bothered by curious motorists by removing boulevard stop signs placed at the heavily traveled corner.

The lock on the door of the station was sawed off and tires, light globes and other accessories stolen.

PRESIDENT

Ole Hanson, below, has just been named president of the Viking Oil company and plans to start operations near Placentia.

HANSON PRESIDENT OF NEW OIL FIRM

Ole Hanson, founder and builder of San Clemente was yesterday chosen President of the Viking Oil company, a new California corporation. This company has secured a lease on the adjoining acreage to the C. C. Chapman land now leased and developed by the Union Oil Co. near Placentia.

This acreage is known as the C. C. Wagner ranch. It is now in an orange grove. Drilling will commence on Palm Drive at the south east border of the Wagner orchard, as soon as financing is finished.

It is expected that Hanson will establish an office in Santa Ana as well as retaining the present office in the W. M. Garland, building, Ninth and Spring streets, Los Angeles.

Resident Here 8 Years Called

Death came today to John C. McMahon, 69, of 121 Cypress avenue, following a brief illness. He was a native of Illinois and had been a resident of Santa Ana for the past eight years. His wife, Maggie J. McMahon, passed away in December, 1932.

He leaves a daughter, Maggie Race of Chemult, Oregon, and a son, Mark McMahon, of El Centro. The remains are at Smith and Tuthill's awaiting funeral arrangements which have not been completed.

BRUSH FIRE IN FOREST NOW UNDER CONTROL

The brush fire in San Mateo canyon nine miles northeast of San Juan Capistrano, after burning over approximately 1500 acres, has been brought under control, according to word today from the lookout on Santiago peak, George E. Holmboe.

Several hundred men are engaged in fighting the blaze, which finally spread to the Cleveland National forest area in Orange county, after starting in San Diego county, Thursday. J. A. Scherman, of Orange, state forest ranger, is among the Orange county men engaged in combating the flames.

A small grass fire which broke out about three and a half miles northwest of El Toro at 10:30 o'clock this morning was extinguished by C. H. Alexander, state truck driver, who drove the state truck from Orange to the scene after being warned of the blaze by Lookout Holmboe.

NO USE TO SUE IF BALL STRIKES YOU

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—(UP)—If you are "beamed" by a high fly or a foul ball while watching a baseball game in California, state courts will not sympathize with efforts to collect damages.

The district court of appeals today decided against Joan Quinn, 14, who was struck by a ball batted by Gus Suhr during a game between the San Francisco Seals and the Pittsburgh Pirates. The girl sued Suhr, Recreation Park, the Pirates and the Seals.

The court of appeals upheld a lower court verdict in the case, saying that persons who go to ball games know that balls are thrown and hit with "great velocity."

The decision held the girl should have dodged the ball.

NEW COURAGE
WASHINGTON

The Maine election had a profound effect down deep inside the New Deal.

The Dealers concluded that, if their opponents could not stop them in Maine, there is no place else in the country where they can be stopped. It gave them the idea that they do not need to compromise or hedge. They have nothing to worry about. They can go straight ahead without particular regard to opposition or criticism.

You may read the results of the Maine election, therefore, in the immediate economic as well as political policies. Also in the current reorganization of NRA, AAA and all the other New Deal agencies.

REGRETS

The more moderate thinkers for the Administration are already expressing regret over this situation—off the record, of course.

They think it was too big a victory. A formidable opposition, in their opinion, is a good thing. It helps to guide and restrain the majority.

Their concern is rooted in worry, particularly about the government spending program. You may not believe it, but they are really disturbed about that, far more than the opposition, although naturally they cannot talk about it openly. They have the responsibility of curtailing expenses. They know it will not be popular. They know it also will be more difficult with a flock of pork barrel Congressmen on their hands who want five billion for this or ten billion for that.

In other words, a topheavy and cocksure majority is going to be hard to handle in Congress and out of it.

PRACTICAL WISDOM

A year ago, one of the most prominent Republican leaders said: "You can't feed the Constitution to a hungry man. Liberty and the Constitution are good political issues when the voters have stocks and bonds in the safety deposit box, a good job, a home and all that. Then a majority of this country wants security, and no rocking of the boat." "Nobody really cares about the Constitution itself in this country—except Borah. It is a flexible document. The people can amend it if they want to, and they will, if it does not give them what they want."

After reading the results of the Democratic primary in California and the results of the Maine election, he was around telling his associates: "I told you so."

POST OFFICE

General Farley has found out that a post office building can be used for something besides mailing letters.

His pals are rolling with glee about the arrangements he recently made to dedicate the Pittsburgh post office building. It seems the edifice will not be ready for occupation for a long time yet. Some of the walls cracked and must be done over. It will take several months.

Time, tide and Farley, however, wait not for mended walls. The General will dedicate the post office, ready or not, on October 18 at high noon. That is a Saturday. The hour was apparently selected to catch the noon-day crowds.

The reason for all this seems to be that the building will not be in regular dedication shape until AFTER the election. Everyone knows there is no sense in dedicating post offices AFTER an election.

Just to make that significant point clear, Mr. Farley will have at his right hand during the dedication ceremonies one Joseph Guffey, the Democratic Senatorial candidate, who also will speak.

When General Farley plays post office, it is not a parlor game.

STAB

A new undercover campaign against the Administration is being started here in a modest way.

A small new organization has sent out a confidential bulletin around the country announcing its purpose is to fight against Communism, a word it uses as a synonym for New Dealism. It will furnish articles, radio speeches and a weekly confidential letter exposing Communism in the New Deal to anyone who has the money to subscribe.

an old-time Washington newspaper is heading the outfit. The initial bulletin frankly confessed that its scope would be dependent on the amount of money coughed up by industrial leaders.

SAUSAGES

Old salts in the Navy are getting ready to put their feet down on future activity of the giant lighter-than-air-sausages. The experiment with the Shenandoah and Akron was not enough to convince them, but the theoretical destruction of the Macon, at the last maneuvers, was.

A comprehensive report on the whole subject will be submitted by the commander of the U. S. fleet. The report will uphold the view of the General Board that the sausages are fair weather playthings, of doubtful value in relation to their cost.

There will be nothing new in the budget for lighter-than-air craft. The Navy wants ships.

NOTES

Mr. Hoover's second article on the imprudence of collectivism came out the same day that the Maine election results were published.

Speaking of black satchels, President Whitney of the Stock Exchange brought his application for registration to the new Securities Commission in two of them.

The Colorado gubernatorial results were not entirely satisfactory to Mrs. Roosevelt, whose friend, Josephine Roche, was defeated for the gubernatorial nomination. Another of Mrs. Roosevelt's good friends, Mrs. Greenway of Arizona, was renominated the same day.

The new Treasury tax plan is said to be taking shape now in the mind of Mr. Morgenthau's brain trust. Prof. Roswell M. Smith, who recently returned here after a tax study in Europe. The plan is supposed to include some of England's ideas of heavy taxes on intermediate incomes.

The second floor corridor of the Treasury Department has recently been dressed up with new gold columns, probably to give the impression that Mr. Morgenthau is on the gold standard. The only thing wrong about that implication is that the gold rubs off when you brush against it.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

PATIENT

The American Liberty league is about to start an extensive campaign for recruits and cash. The men of property who have made Presidents in the past want their old job back. Captains of finance and industry fervently feel they are best qualified to run the country and that the times will be out of joint until they have regained the driver's seat. The league is their chosen instrument to that end.

In case you doubt their power it can be told on unimpeachable authority—that the most cogent reason why Calvin Coolidge did not choose to run in '28 was because Herbert Hoover, from the Department of Commerce, had lined up all the conservative political money.

The League's sponsors believe they can smoke out FDR—that he isn't the type to fight organized opposition. They figure on building such a potent organization—financially and politically—that he'll come to their way of thinking because he can't afford not to. In that case New Deal features objectionable to conservatives would be weaned and die of malnutrition—which is as good a way of getting rid of them as any.

But if he remains stubborn the program is simple—smash him! How? By wearing away the New Deal stone with an incessant flood of hostile publicity. The theory behind it will be that a democracy tends to string with those who talk loudest. The League will be prepared to make as much noise as a World War.

The League's official brochure expresses the hope that it will have the support of President Roosevelt. Inside comment runs that it privately hopes still more that it won't. It's much more fun to sock the enemy than to convert him—and the results are more likely to be permanent.

The League will not be do-or-die active in this fall's campaign. Its leaders are playing for long term stakes. They're quite ready to tighten their belts for two years in view of potential rewards in the next four if they win. There are times when it pays to be patient and one of them is when overzealous haste invites damaging defeat.

BAIT

The League starts public recruiting with a nest egg of more than $700,000. The Supreme Advisory Council of fifty to sixty members will be composed of those who have kicked in with $25,000. Six places are reserved for Duponts.

Percy Rockefeller—backstage big shot of the National City Bank in the Mitchell days but no longer—is prepared to devote all his time to the Liberty League without compensation. That's how important he thinks it is—and many other financial corps commanders share his zeal.

Informed New Yorkers are the makings of a vital rivalry between the A. F. of L. and the A. L. L. The latter stands ready to throw its weight behind any Congressman of either party who is willing to sign on the dotted line. Such an alluring bait can hardly fail to get results.

FINANCING

Neither the bankers nor the Treasury are as happy about the terms of the Government's latest financing as published reports make out.

The result was a Mexican stand-off between Washington and Wall Street. The New York banks—having solemnly and privately agreed to buy nothing which had a maturity beyond three years—will now subscribe to the four-year notes adequately if not with gusto. While the operation is in theory purely an exchange of one security for another these subscriptions will be needed to take care of holders of 4th 4-1/4's who want to be paid off in cash.

The Treasury also yielded a year—coming down from five to four. In a way it was more of a concession than the banks made because it completely shatters the Treasury's dream of converting topheavy short-term debt into cheap long-term obligations. Mr. Morgenthau—or his successor—will have plenty to think about in the next four years. Consider the volume of notes that have to be paid off or refunded (to say nothing of new money that may be needed).

1936 1,807,000,000
1937 1,745,000,000
1938 about 2,450,000,000

And on top of this there are over three billion dollars of 4th 4-1/4's still to be taken care of between now and 1938. Observers remark it's enough to give the Sphinx a headache. Over a billion dollars of the problem will have been transferred to 1938—which has light maturities of its own—if the Treasury had been able to carry its five-year point. So the compromise had its painful aspects.

CHOICE

The option given to holders of Liberty Bonds to exchange for either four-year notes or ten-to-twelve-year bonds sounds pretty but doesn't mean much. Experts say that the Treasury will be lucky to get $100,000,000 out of a total of $1,200,000,000 in applications for the long-term issues. The banks aren't even dimly interested but insurance companies and individuals may provide enough of a market to keep the alternative from being an absolute fizzle.

DISASTER

New York shipping circles take the incendiary theory of the Morro Castle's officers seriously. In case you're skeptical they suggest you try to start a six-by-six fire on your parlor carpet with matches or cigarettes and without kerfuffles.

Insiders say the crew turnover on coastal ships—whether American or British—averages as high as 25 per cent per voyage. That's no great help to discipline and training.

All lines have suffered from heavy cancellation of cruise bookings since the disaster.

CONVENTION

Al Smith's cabana at Atlantic Beach was badly damaged in the gale on the night of September 8th. Surveying the ruins the following morning Al remarked: "Hal I see Macy and Wadsworth have been holding a convention here."

FOREIGN SPECIAL EXTRA

FRANCE

Nervous Europe had the jitters when a big French paper recently published an alleged secret clause of the German-Polish treaty providing for the return of the Polish Corridor to Germany in exchange for Berlin's neutrality and financial aid for a Polish annexation of Lithuania. This has long been a pet brainchild of the International Press and is being played to the limit. Polish and German denials cut no ice, of course, but the fact that the French government is interested in straining its relations with Poland and has had the "secret clause" conjured out of the air does not appear before the public.

Poland is trying to play the threat of Polish-German friendship against French pro-Russian enthusiasm, for Pilsudski fears that the Soviet, once in the League and the European setup, will overshadow Poland and displace her as French henchman and controller-general of Northern Europe. Warsaw insiders frankly say that France, and only France, is the military and financial guarantee of Poland's security. Pilsudski doesn't dream of joining Berlin in diplomatic exile. Paris is calling for Poland to declare a pro-French hand. All wild stories of an anti-French pro-German Poland must be read in this light. The "secret clause" is non-existent.

Barthou has carefully set the stage in Geneva for an impressive entry by the Soviet delegation. France will propose an invitation to join the motion will be carried by the necessary two-thirds majority, and the waiting Soviet delegates will form a triumphal procession into the hall. It's to be a steam roller procedure, without the usual discussion by a commission of the candidates.

The mysterious death of Judge Prince, the know-all of the Stavisky case, again overshadows the French political horizon. The police still claim that he committed suicide, but the Right Wing press supported by a recent statement of the judge's son says that he was murdered and that the investigation reaches high up into cabinet circles. It becomes increasingly clear that the police investigation has been blocked by political interests and corruption.

The masses, who were so saturated with scandal stories that they became indifferent, are regaining their interest in the Stavisky affair and Paris insiders predict ructions for the Autumn that might easily cost the present government its job.

GERMANY

Last week 400,000 people were brought together on the Rhine to demonstrate for the return of the Saar Valley to Germany. Free train tickets, food and lodging cost the government a few million marks, but no sum is too high that goes to stake this or die trick of Nazidom. The success of the Saar plebiscite in January means more than winning a valuable industrial territory. It is a question of prestige that may balance Hitler's devastating foreign political losses or spoil his complete defeat. An adverse vote by the Saar population would be a judgment of Nazidom that could not be explained away before the German people.

Foreign observers who did not sit on the grandstand with Hitler and who had a chance to circulate among the 150,000 Saar inhabitants who were brought to the meeting free of charge agree that the results of the plebiscite are by no means as certain as they appeared two months ago. The Saar population has had foreign newspapers—they have read the facts of June 30th, the suppression of the Church, the "equalizing" of the workers, and the Reich's desperate financial conditions. The mass meeting on German soil was to show them these were fables invented by the big foreign Press. Hitler's magnetic personality was to convince them, and promises of milk and honey were to make them more willing to leave their present comparatively favorable positions. The Saar workman has under the French regime almost 30 per cent higher purchasing power than he would under the swastika. Dr. Goebbels' monumental plans for introducing mass psychology went awry for once. There wasn't enough food, the loud-speakers broadcasting Hitler's speech didn't function well. Sturm Abteilung and Schutz Staffel men were tyrannical and rough, and Hitler in one of his weakest speeches was not convincing. Wine and cigarettes were much more expensive than in France, and all in all it's safe to say that half of the demonstrators went home with serious misgivings about joining the Reich.

A counter-demonstration on Saar territory by 60,000 anti-Hitler Saar people, who paid their own expenses, was very convincing however. The Catholic Church was well represented and together with the labor leaders put their points over. The official German press reported an attendance of only 5000.

The taken-for-granted Germanism of the Saar no longer exists. Hitler will have to prove financial, labor and religious conditions better than they are, and he has to deal with the counterbalancing of a free press. It's a crisis for Nazidom and a battle to the knife which may have international effects.

Besides an unprecedented propaganda campaign to show the Saar Valley that gold lies on the streets in Germany, the terroristic organization that is to impress votes for Germany is being extended. The Saar Police, unreliable and mostly pro-Hitler, do nothing and American Commissioner Knox's appeals to the League for an impartial police force result in endless haggling about priority and procedure. The presence of French soldiers is being avoided as an irritation to the populace and an excuse for Germany to accuse France of a terrorism which she has no intention to employ. Berlin insiders say that Hitler is prepared to stop at nothing to win the plebiscite and his agents in the Saar have received orders to that effect—that means murder and all else. We'll watch it; it's dynamite.

AUSTRIA

Over a thousand Austria Nazis who fled into Yugoslavia after the failure of the revolt have been given permission by the Belgrade government to spend the winter there. The Austrian government now claims that the Yugoslav authorities are allowing the organization of a second "Austrian Legion" which will take the place of the one in Bavaria which has been "disbanded" to show Hitler's desire for peace. It is also said that not only Yugoslavia's hatred of Mussolini and the fear that his control of Austria might make the fulfillment of his designs on the Adriatic coast easier, but also that an actual secret pact with Germany is the inspiration. Insiders say that Yugoslavia has been promised considerable Italian and Austrian territory as a reward for joining Germany. The Austrian government mouth-piece, the "Reichspost," has given all this a lot of publicity and made the unpleasant Central European situation even more unpleasant.

(Your correspondent adds a grain of salt. The German plans exist without a doubt, and lots of money is flowing into the Yugoslav coffers for the maintenance of the "Legion." In such cases Belgrade is always a patient listener, but has no intention of bucking France and least of all of undertaking a war against her.)

Hitler will have a hard time stirring up trouble enough between France and Italy so that the German and Yugoslav armies can mop up the Duce while Paris and the Little Entente sit by and watch. In fact the unheard of has happened. The French navy department is moving some of the heaviest Mediterranean units to the Atlantic coast. Our friendship with Italy makes it almost unnecessary to protect our southern coast; we turn toward the German pocket-battleships in the north—says Paris. Barthou is convincing the Duce that his mastery of Austria must not go too far, and the French minister's coming visit to Rome will probably bring up the much desired African colonial agreements but a complete relaxation of the Little Entente fears of Italian expansion.

In the coming session of the League of Nations the Austrian government will make a very firm stand and suggest that Europe stop talking about helping Austria and really do something. The impoverished country has had to bear the entire expense of the fight against Nazidom, from which France particularly has drawn so much diplomatic benefit. A loan of 40 million dollars is desired but it seems difficult to stir up much enthusiasm. That's international gratitude.

Continued investigation of the former Nazi activities in Austria yield astounding revelations on the amounts of money spent in bribing government supporters into the Nazi organization. Former Vice Chancellor Winkler, the leader of a former party, received $60,000 to join his supporters to the German cause. Discontented Heimwehr and Christian circles were also well greased, but in all cases the Nazis were well gyped. The money was gratefully pocketed, but when the time came to earn it—Winkler, for one, disappeared, and most of the others forgot that they had been bribed. British papers remark cynically that the money wasted in Austria might have paid a good bit of Germany's debts.

Vienna has just supplied a marvelous bit of anti-Russian propaganda—all true, this time. The Austrian laborer, Otto Muller, who commanded the desperate and bloody defense of the Carl Marx Hof during the February revolt, had fled to Czechoslovakia and joined the rebels who were invited

News Of Fullerton and Vicinity

PROGRAM HELD WHEN BAPTIST GROUP MEETS

FULLERTON, Sept. 15.—More than 50 women of the Fullerton Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Otto Russell, Orangefarmer and Brookhurst avenues Thursday for their monthly union meeting of the Aid societies of the church. Mrs. C. A. Cuff, general president, was in charge of the business meeting, where general plans for the year's work were discussed.

The program of the afternoon included a play, presented by Ramona Van Way, Martina Hansen and Ola Boyd, on a missionary subject; two cello solos by Mildred Gage and a duet by Ruth Trendwell and Jean Hemmerling. The girls who presented the entertainment are members of the World Wide guild.

The next union meeting will be at the church October 1 and will be a family dinner affair at 6:30 p. m.

MRS. MCCULLAH IS GIVEN HIGH HONOR

ANAHEIM, Sept. 15.—Word has been received here that Mrs. Kate E. McCullah, director of the Orange County School of Fine Arts in this city, has been named Orange county chairman for the National Federation of Music Clubs' eleventh biennial national contest for young artists. This also will be the fourth biennial contest for student musicians.

Mrs. McCullah will have charge of arranging contests within Orange county. Each district will hold its own contests during the winter, with the final competition being at Philadelphia, Pa., April 24 to 28, 1935, during the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Arvid Lindvall has returned home with her infant son, who is now nearly two weeks of age. The baby weighed nine pounds at birth and has been named Anders Frederick Bjorn. He is the third child in the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Severns whose wedding occurred shortly after the close of schools in June, are domiciled in the Pinkney apartments on Hillcrest avenue. Mr. Severns, the former Charlotte Hewitt, was kindergarten teacher at the local schools. Mr. Severns is principal of the Washington school.

BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, Sept. 15.—Miss Lorene Cunningham has enrolled for a nurses' training course at the Good Samaritan hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson of Los Angeles are new Buena Park residents, living on North Homewood avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Watters and family of Thirty-ninth place, Los Angeles, former residents, are visiting friends here.

Miss Pauline Luther has returned to Red Bluff after visiting for some time in Buena Park.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Warlamont and daughter, Marie, have returned after a vacation spent at Lake Arrowhead.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cummins and children, Haldane and Mary Jane, who spent their vacation at Mammoth lakes, have returned to their home on West Ninth street.

by the Soviet government to settle down in Lusia. Last week Muller surrendered himself to the Austrian frontier guards; he had come back from Moscow. Smiling, he heard the Vienna court pronounce a six year verdict—"Even that is better than Russia," he remarked.

A little tid-bit from a recent Nazi trial. It seems that the Austrian Nazis kept on throwing bombs, even after the government had placed the death penalty on the mere possession of explosives, because the party authorities threatened "gangster bumping off" for the slackers. "I knew what that was like from the movies," said one sentenced Nazi to your correspondent. "The police seemed more remote. 'Scarface' had impressed him particularly."

ITALY

At the close of the impressively efficient autumn maneuvers of the Italian army Mussolini addressed his assembled officers as reported at the time. The Duce had had the foreign military observers and pressmen moved out of earshot, but an inquisitive German got the story and hotfooted to the next telephone. The German party press brought the speech, with its moderate parts cut out under screaming headlines and commented on it as a proof that Italy is the real firebrand of Europe.

The Duce found it advisable to publish the authentic text, which he had never intended. Such words from Mussolini bear weight and make a nervous Europe more nervous. All in the interests of German propaganda, which is so stupidly managed that it not only damages Germany but is a continual danger to European peace.

CHANGE SHOW PLACE

FULLERTON, Sept. 15.—A change of place for the Boston bull terrier puppy show Sunday, has been announced, according to R. N. Richards of Fullerton. Instead of being in Montebello park, it will be held at Whittier Woodland park, which is reached from Orange county by going west on Whittier boulevard to Durfee road and north on Durfee to Syphon. The show is free and places will be arranged for lunch at noon.

By HARRY GRAYSON

Edson Auker, the most pronounced underhand pitcher since Carl Mays, was warming up. "Fresh from a soft ball lot" asked someone.

"Nope. Football injury," replied the pitcher, veteran catcher and coach of the Detroit Tigers. "Play it safe. Bo McMillan, Hurt his shoulder. Couldn't throw a ball overhanded to save his life. Lucky, though. Hitters get one like him so seldom that he's effective. Got a lot of stuff, too."

"Football is baseball's scourge. There ought to be a law against kids with baseball talent dying for an old Backwash."

Baker is the old professor of the Tigers. He managed Beaumont, the Detroit club's Texas League farm, in 1921 and 1922. Prior to that he handled the Fort Worth team, and before that the Oakland Coasters' subsidiary in the Utah-Idaho league.

The Oregon hop grower is one of the finest developers of young ball players in the business. He might now be manager of the Tigers had not Frank J. Navin borrowed that $100,000 and purchased Mickey Cochrane.

At Beaumont, Baker turned out the phenomenal Schoolboy Rowe and the lesser known right-handed Hamlin. Outfielders Pete Fox and Jo-Jo White, and the extra-infielders, Heinie Schuble and Flea Clifton.

Most Gridders Flop in Baseball

It was Baker's knowledge of these youngsters and his influence over them, especially Rowe, that last season prompted the Detroit front office to bring Baker back to the club for which he formerly caught.

"Yes, football is baseball's scourge," repeated Baker. "In my last four years in the minors, I had 50 football players, a number of them All-Americans, and not one of them amounted to anything. Football leaves its marks in the shoulders, hips, and knees. Those who play for glory in college find themselves muscle-bound when they get out in a game in which they could earn a fine living. If their shoulders aren't tied up in swinging a bat, they can't throw. If it isn't that, it's hip injuries or trick knees that continually fly out of place."

"At Beaumont, I had an All-American man from Georgia. He did most everything well, but I could not get him to run with his head up for love or money. He sloughed off one extra base hit after another. He'd just ram that head down there and keep on running until somebody tagged him."

Baker named one case after another—players who would have become renowned in baseball, but who were hopelessly handicapped as the result of being belted around in football.

There was Ken Strong, the great New York University back, who went to Detroit and who hit so well for Toronto. He was driven out of baseball by a wrist that was broken in professional football. Ernie Nevers might have stood out as a pitcher had not so many line plunges deprived him of freedom of motion in his shoulders.

Four Exceptions Prove the Rule

Football players have failed in baseball for other reasons, too. Jim Thorpe could not hit a curve ball with a flakopole. Orve Mohler went along splendidly in the Pacific Coast League until the pitchers found a blind spot. Bruce Caldwell, of Yale, simply couldn't make the grade.

Football has contributed baseball brilliants, too. Christy Mathewson was best known as a football player when he first reported to John J. McGraw. Cocky Eddie Collins was a Columbia quarterback. Frankie Frisch was the Fordham Flash over chalk marks. Riggs Stephenson was one of the greatest forward passers in the history of Alabama. But they are the few. There is little question that Baker is right. The games don't mix in any kind of cocktail shaker.

M'LEMORE CAN'T FIND COURSE

Puzzled Over America's Yacht Cup Race Track

"JUST WET WATER," HE AVERS

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—(UP)—I do not wish to disillusion you prairie schooner sailors out west, but the course over which Rainbow and Endeavor will sail today is the most disappointing race track I ever saw. It's nothing—just a lot of wet water surrounded by a lot of more wet water.

I went around it yesterday, to sort of familiarize myself with it, and I couldn't tell you one corner from the next. There isn't any third base. There isn't any home stretch. There isn't any left field. There isn't such a thing as bleachers, goal posts or basketball baskets.

And if you think it's hard to find the Polo grounds, just try to reach Brenton's reef and the starting mark of the America's cup races. You can't catch a subway, or a train, or a street car. You've got to hire a fellow who's been before the mast for 20 years, sailed around Cape Horn in a rowboat and has longer whiskers than Zoro Agha's.

The nautical gent who took me around, I picked up by a wharf. He had a greasy little old motorboat with which it is his daily custom—and I might add, his daily bread—to go out hunting the vicious shrimp. As we progressed to sea, he unfolded to me, in his salty way, some of the hardships of shrimp hunting. Bitter cold. Biting wind. No horseradish. No tomato sauce, with which he smothered the hardy shrimp once he has been snared. He told me how many years he had practiced in his own back yard, hurling a harpoon into a shrimp.

But to get back to the course. Suddenly Captain Driggs shouted: "We are here!" I looked around me. "Where?" he said.

"Here," he said.

"Here, where?" I said.

"Here, here!" said Captain Driggs as he tied his harpoon around the peak halyards.

"Here, here, here," said I, beating him by two. "Where in the hell are we?"

The cap'n spat on his hands, took a reef in his trousers, saw which way the moss lay on the mast. Then he took a quadrant, a sextant and a quintuplet, which he happened to find in his ditty box. He blazed a wave. He wet his finger and thrust it aloft. He made some fire by rubbing two sticks. He pulled out his merit badge.

"We are 4120 north and 7120 west," he said. "This is where Endeavor and Rainbow will take off."

"How long, cap'n," sez I, "will it take them to round the course?"

"Bout four or five hours, meb-be," he said.

"And how long will it take us to run around it in your small—"

"I mean your luxurious shrimp boat?"

"Oh, I'd hazard a guess maybe an hour and a half or maybe two hours. Once I did it in an hour flat when I was ridin' back of a killer shrimp."

"Cap'n," I said, "I think you're something of a prevaricator."

"No, indeed, I never went around the Horn, but I kin navigate as good as the next one in these here waters," he allowed.

"You don't get my point, cap'n," I says, "but what's this got to do with the yacht races?"

"Nothing, except you owe me $10.00 for this trip."

"Good God," I said, "how much is this boat worth?"

"I paid $116 for it 16 years ago," he said.

"And it cost Spoworth and Vanderbilt $2,000,000 to run around this course in four hours," I said, fainting dead away and being aroused only when Cap'n Driggs waved a live killer or "tiger" shrimp directly beneath my nose.

Columbia To Play Santa Clara Squad

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Columbia University athletic authorities today announced that Santa Clara university will play the Columbia football team here on Sunday, Nov. 25. Maurice (Clipper) Smith, Santa Clara coach, formerly tutored the football team of the local institution.

WESTERN FOOTBALL UNDER WAY.

CONZAGA GRID OUTLOOK THIS SEASON GOOD

(The following story, which outlines the prospects for Gonzaga University's grid season this year, is the final article in the series on Western collegiate football teams.)

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 15.—It seems Gonzaga university sparks with a showy, scoring team every other year. On that theory the Bulldogs of Spokane are due to click this fall.

In 1932 Coach Mike Pecarovich's team was the toast of non-conference eleven on the Pacific Coast. Gonzaga scored on every opponent. Last year, with veteran material, a touchdown was a rarity until the closing games of November.

Pecarovich—able, handsome, smart coach—tore the Gonzaga machine apart this spring, practically the entire starting forward wall graduated. With the aid of Samuel A. R. Dagley, line coach, a new line coach was assembled. It functioned in spring practice, but grey days of October will furnish a better test.

Pecarovich is a stock company actor of ability. He has imbued his boys with the idea that football fans want a good show—win or lose. Gonzaga swings into offensive formations while the players count, "One, two, three—hip!"

Linebackers graduates Captain Bib Bellinger and Bill Van Sistine, tackles Jim Van Sistine and Howard Hurd, ends Phil Poth, Bill Maher and Frank Barker, guards—all three-strings—and John Smith, guard, one-year letterman.

Johnny (Frog) Theriot, 190-pound six-footer from Los Angeles, likely will be one starting end. He learned by experience and on the bench that he would have to curb his tendency to break in fast on defense or be a permanent bench warmer. Thor Ulvested, Seattle lad, willing sophomore; Herman Brass, Denny Barry, Barry Ely and John Hansen from Wisconsin will fight for extremity posts.

At tackles, Captain Bill Brian, 215-pound senior, will be a certain starter with John Close, Spokane, John Madden and Bill Figur contenders for the other post.

Guards include Russell Hale, Los Angeles; Bill Buchanan, Spokane; Al Caramanica, Portland; and Matt Vaessen, Wisconsin.

Pierce Murphy, 210-pound senior, gives real strength to the center niche, with Doug Day, Spokane, and Mike Tuel, Tacoma, in reserve.

Pecarovich has plenty of backs—Willard Key, Myles Grady and Pete Higgins at quarter; halfbacks, like Petersen, kicker, passer, open-field runner; Ollie Olson, Ed Justice, Waldo Forrester and George Johnson; fullbacks, Tom McNeese and Lester Madsen.

Gonzaga opens against Oregon at Eugene and plays Cheney Normal, Idaho, Washington States, College of Puget Sound, Columbia University of Portland, San Francisco University, Washburn College at Topeka, Kans., Wichita University at Wichita, Kans., and Montana University.

ERDHAUS JOINS DONS IN DRILL AT POLY FIELD

Fred Erdhaus, big halfback who did most of the passing for Santa Ana's Saints last fall, and Don Lentz, ex-Saint at guard, are the latest football prospects to enroll at Santa Ana junior college, and bring the Don roster to a total of 23 members, a record turnout before regular classwork begins at the Tenth and Main street institution next week.

Coach Bill Cook is anxious to see how many candidates he will greet at Poly field Monday afternoon, when the Dons participate in their first heavy drill for a non-conference scrimmage with Compton's Tartars at the Bowl the following Saturday night. More than 60 gridders are expected. Compton has six full teams working out for the Santa Ana invasion.

Santa Ana's hopes for another Southland pennant hinge upon the enrollment of additional material. Among those definitely expected to check out togs are Raymond Nowotny, sophomore giant who probably will earn a regular position at tackle; Bob Boyle and Bob Bell, other good tackles; Walt Gunther, a dandy pass receiver at end; Bob Erricarte, "Peewee" Cliff and Isham of Capistrano.

Others who may report are Bob Mitchell, letterman fullback who probably would win a regular post; Paul Hales, fleet halfback; Paul Perinich, letterman and brilliant blocking end; John Lehnardt, Garden Grove halfback; Will and Wallace Blaylock and Stricklin of er and Doug Perrin of Tustin.

The reason the players are expected to be extremely docile is that Sheriff Logan Jackson will be the big mogul on the decisions in his capacity as head umpire for tonight's final round in the hilarious new game. Hunter Leach will assist Sheriff Jackson in officiating at the game.

The game tonight between the picked teams will be the last of a series of three games played at the Santa Ana Bowl as a return engagement by the original Donkey baseball outfit.

An appreciative crowd laughed its approval of the game between the Santa Ana 20-30 club and the DeMolays last night which wound up after an extra inning with all tied up, 3 to 3. There were plenty of spills as the "runners" attempted to round the bags on their "desert canaries," and plenty of laughs as frantic players attempted to get their obstinate donkeys to budge.

The series is sponsored by the Elks and Scots for the benefit of their charity funds.

MAKINA BREAKS SWIMMING MARK

TOKYO, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Down went another swimming record today when Makina, Japan's star swimmer, broke his own world's mark for the 800-meter free-style distance. Competing in the Japanese students' meet, Makina swam the 800 meters in 10:07.2, more than a second faster than his former record of 10:08.6.

CHASING THE RAINBOW

Proud defender of the America's Cup, the sleek Rainbow is shown below running before the wind off Newport, R. I. Skipper Harold S. Vanderbilt and some of the sixteen other millionaires who subscribed to the costly defense are grouped aft about the wheel. Forward, ready for instant hoisting, are piled huge auxiliary sails, for in addition to the big mainsail and spinnaker shown here, the Rainbow carries jib and jumbo and parachute spinnaker—a total spread of 7,555 square feet.

ROSS-M'LARNIN Title Bout Monday Night

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(UP)—The world welterweight title fight between Champion Barney Ross and Challenger Jimmy McLarnin, slated for tonight, was postponed today for the fourth time because of rain. It will be held Monday night.

Wagering on the fight is more brisk than on any other this year, including the Baer-Carnera match. Ross is the favorite at 7 to 5.

If McLarnin loses, he probably will quit the ring.

SHERIFF WILL BE UMPIRE IN DONKEY BALL

Little argument and no threats from members of Diamond Ice and Santa Ana Commercial company teams are expected in regard to decisions in the final Donkey baseball game tonight, at 8 o'clock, in the Santa Ana Bowl.

The reason the players are expected to be extremely docile is that Sheriff Logan Jackson will be the big mogul on the decisions in his capacity as head umpire for tonight's final round in the hilarious new game. Hunter Leach will assist Sheriff Jackson in officiating at the game.

TUSTIN ELEVEN PLOWS THROUGH SAINT DEFENSE

Tustin's light but speedy backfield, operating behind a good line, uncovered glaring weaknesses in Santa Ana high school's defense in a joint scrimmage between Coach Bill Cole's Tilters and Coach Bill Foote's Saints on the Tustin grid yesterday.

The drill plainly pointed out the vast improvement the Santa Anas must show before they launch their annual Coast league football season at San Diego Oct. 20. They have one month of drill, including four practice games, in which to iron out their defensive wrinkles.

Whether the Saint offense, after two weeks of practice, is any farther ahead of the Saint defense will be known next Tuesday at Poly field, when Santa Ana and Tustin engage in a second scrimmage. Tustin was allowed to carry the ball during the first workout. This will be Santa Ana's privilege Tuesday.

Coach Foote did not expect his charges to make a spectacular showing, in view of the brief time they have been training, but he did anticipate greater defensive strength than the Saints displayed. The Tustin backs broke into the open time and again.

One of the surprises of the Saint workout was the superior showing Ernie Saunders made over Bob Buckles at center. The rangy Buckles was considered the No. 1 choice prior to the Tustin scrimmage, but the next few weeks may find the stocky Saunders in the coveted varsity position.

Erwin Youel and Harold Short displayed the most ability among the many ends Foote employed. Two combinations of tackles, Joe Crawford-Jim Growther and Bob Reid-Ray Hunsinger, appeared on equal terms. Bain Alexander and Leonard Aesh, left guards, and Dick DeSmet and Don Evans, right guards, turned in a fair performance.

Leonard Stafford, fullback from Willard junior high, backed up the line to Foote's satisfaction. Alvin Lamb, Byron Nott, Henry Gonzales and Francis Rowell operated in one Saint backfield; Ray Hamilton, Roger Dunning, Carroll Joy and Warren Mann is another.

STANFORD TEAM FAVORED; HOLD FIRST DRILLS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Intent on producing a national champion to complete the Pacific coast's "grand slam" in sports for 1934, major college football teams on the western slope held their first practice drills today.

The gridiron warriors got down to heavy work immediately. For some of the schools the opening kickoff comes next Saturday—just seven days away. For the others the first game is set for September 29.

The limited practice period is the rule of the Pacific Coast conference, to which 10 of the schools belong and to whose regulations the others subscribe.

This year—for the first time since 1928—every school has retained the head coach who guided its football fortunes last year. Despite its so-called "suicide schedule," Stanford is the favorite, the "team to beat." With a high-powered backfield led by Bob-By Grayson and a line that lacks only Bill Corbus, the All-American guard, and Al Norgaard, veteran end, Coach Claude Thornhill and his Rose Bowl team are sitting pretty.

Three-deep with veterans for almost every post, Bill Ingram is radiating confidence at California. Ingram has a powerful line and a backfield that features Arleigh Williams and Floyd Blower, elusive and versatile backs.

Howard Harding Jones, mentor at U. S. C., has the biggest problem of the "Big Three." He has to replace eight regulars, including Aaron Rosenberg, all-America guard. But those feeling sorry for Jones are advised that a similar condition existed three years ago and he came up with a national champion. He has Cotton Warburton, fastest of backs, as a nucleus.

Fans are looking toward the University of Washington, where Jimmy Phelan holds forth, as the dark horse of the season. University of Oregon, co-holder of the 1933 conference championship will miss rugged Mike Mikulak from its backfield. But Coach Prink Callison has a prize crop of junior college transfers.

Over at Corvallis, Oregon State college reports without eight of last year's "iron men." Norman Franklin, red-haired halfback, remains to make the Staters a contender.

Washington State is placing great reliance on newcomers and 235-pound George Theodoratos, potentially the greatest lineman in the conference.

Bill Spaulding at University of California at Los Angeles has what he has lacked for years—beef in the backfield. University of Idaho has 15 lettermen returning and University of Montana, conference cellar occupant last season, has a sprinkling of veterans and sophomores.

Among the teams outside the conference, St. Mary's, with Slip Madigan starting his 14th year, appears to have the power. Clipper Smith at Santa Clara is building quietly and saying little. University of San Francisco, the team that lost six games by a single touchdown in 1933, has added new backfield men to a veteran line.

Gonzaga at Spokane and Loyola at Los Angeles will compete in major circles this season and a newcomer also is appearing in big-time football. Columbia university at Portland.

Little sent the galleries cheering on the home green after his approach just trickled onto the carpet, and he was left with a 25-foot putt. Goldman needed three to get home. Little ran down his 25-foot putt for a birdie.

Goldman had the honor on the first hole and drove straight down the fairway. Little duplicated the drive.

Goldman was off to a great start with a birdie 3 at the first hole. A perfect approach left him with a six-foot putt which he sank, to go one up.

Little squared the match at the second where Goldman needed four blows to get home and had a 5 to Lawson's par 4. The third was halved routinely. Little went one up at the fourth where a neat approach left him with a 7-foot putt which he sank for a birdie 3, while Goldman could only get a par.

Spec sank a 6-foot putt for a birdie 3 at the fifth to make the match all squared. The next three holes were halved in 4's.

Little went one up at the ninth where Goldman's approach was sliced into some shrubbery, which, under rules of the tourney, is out of bounds. Goldman, lying 4 on the green against Lawson's 2, conceded.

Little equalled par 35 going out, and Goldman had 36.

Little Leads Golf Match

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Lawson Little of San Francisco, British amateur titleholder, held a lead of 5 up over David ("Spec") Goldman of Dallas, Tex., today at the end of their morning round in the 36-hole final of the National Amateur Golf championship.

Goldman gave Little an earnest battle on the early holes and was only one down at the turn, but Little blazed home in 34, two strokes below par, to total 69 for the round, while Goldman needed 39 coming home.

ANNUAL SHOW ARRANGED BY GARDEN CLUB

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 15.—The third annual fall flower show of the Huntington Beach Garden club will be held next Thursday and Friday. The show will be open to the public at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon and will remain open both evenings. On Friday morning the hall will be open at 10 o'clock.

Following the established custom of the Garden club no admission will be charged and the visitors will be presented with souvenir bulbs and flower seed to be planted for the coming season. However, this year a contribution box will be placed in the vestibule where donations may be made by anyone who cares to assist with the expense of staging the show.

No prizes will be given for entries, but the public acclaim system which proved so popular at the show last year, will again be used.

Every local organization in the city has made arrangements to enter an exhibit, and several local flower enthusiasts have reserved individual tables on which to enter their choicest specimens.

The stage will be decorated for the event by the stagecraft class of the high school under the direction of their instructor, Fred E. Brooks. The elementary school exhibit is being arranged by Miss Elsie Chambers, supervisor of visual education and Miss Rita Alt-kne, supervisor of art.

Programs have been planned for both evenings of the show. Mrs. Margaret Colvin has arranged the program for Thursday evening, and on Friday evening Mrs. Mayne Schult will be in charge.

Mrs. C. W. Patrick is general chairman of the show and Mrs. Edna Herron is assistant chairman. Committees include J. Sherman, publicity; Mrs. Anna May Mosier, solicitations; Mrs. Robert Vidal, flower assembling; Mrs. Luther Arthur, flower arrangement and decoration; Mrs. Alf Dowty, tables; Paul Severson, kitchen garden display; Mrs. Roy Larson, still life pictures; Mrs. Pearl Jones, home arts and craft room; Mrs. Vern Keller, miniature flower arrangement.

Mrs. J. Sherman Denny, ballroom; Mrs. May Jackson, hostesses; Mrs. Denny, special geranium table; Mrs. Willis Warner, rose table; Mrs. Sam Miller, chrysanthemum table; Mrs. Westmoreland, dahlias table; Mr. Denny, cacti and succulents; Mrs. Grace Dulaney, rare and potted plant table; Mrs. Mosier, miscellaneous cut flower table; Mrs. Viola Vidal, vines and shrubs.

Mrs. Hazel Whitaker is in charge of the Woman's club entry; T. R. Canady, Rotarians; Dr. Sheehan, Legionnaires; Mrs. J. E. De La Vergne, Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. George Gelzer, policemen; Mrs. Sargent, firemen; Miss Lucille Darby, business girls; Mrs. Arthur, Baptist church; Mrs. Frances Murphy, Catholic church; Mrs. R. E. Schafer, Methodist church; Alf Dowty, Christian church; Mrs. Reynolds, library; Miss Chambers and Miss Aiken, elementary school; and Miss Trafford and Mr. Gallienne, high school flowers.

Individuals tables have been reserved by Mrs. William Clegg, Mrs. Edna Herron; Dr. Mathis, Mr. Parker, Mr. Denny, Mr. Gallienne, Mrs. Arthur.

Many commercial firms will have exhibits.

RECEPTION HELD FOR HARBOR HIGH AND MESA INSTRUCTORS

COSTA MESA, Sept. 15.—Instructors in the Newport Harbor Union High school and the Costa Mesa Grammar schools were guests of honor at a reception held in the social hall of the Costa Mesa Community church last night.

The musical program included three soprano solos by Mrs. Ruth MacKenzie, "Estrellita," Pome; "A Birthday," Woodman; and "Fiddle and I," Goodbye. She was accompanied by Mrs. C. A. Custer at the piano. Miss June Arnold of Santa Ana, gave a reading, "Here We Are," Vladimir Lenski gave four violin selections, "Scherzo," G string solo, "Annie Laurie," and "Chinese Incense," all of his own composition; and "Enduring Young Charms," arranged by Helen Ware. He was accompanied by Miss Hunton, of Santa Ana. The Rev. W. I. Lowe welcomed the entire group on behalf of the Community church. Sidney H. Davidson, principal of the high school, responded for that institution; Henry Abrams, principal of the grammar schools, gave a short talk in behalf of his organization; the Rev. Grov S. Brown responded for the Sunday school, and E. A. Spaulding responded for the Costa Mesa Men's brotherhood. The Rev. Grov S. Brown and the Rev. W. I. Lowe were in charge of the evening's program. Mrs. Laura Conwell and Mrs. Noral Lambertson did the decorating and Mrs. Clara McMurtry and Mrs. Cora Ballou, representing the Woman's Aid society of the church, served the refreshments.

High Tides Build Up City Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 15.—Recent tide and wave conditions on the Orange county coast have built up the beach at Huntington Beach until it is twice as wide as usual. Yesterday when the waters were lower than for several days the wide expanse of beach was particularly noticeable.

Willis Osborne, Pacific Electric agent here and ardent beach booster is having new pictures made of the new beach as it looks since the recent storms along the coast.

Civic Body To Discuss Port Plans

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 15.—An open meeting of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce will be held next Wednesday evening at the city hall, according to announcement made today by A. B. Roussele, president. Reports of various group meetings will be made and among other matters to be presented will be plans for work on the Newport harbor entrance jetty, which is scheduled for September 22. Plans for the kayak race and long distance swim on Sunday, September 23, will be outlined at this meeting and final rules and entry lists made public. Suggestions for the civic celebration to mark the laying of the first load of bottom rock for the jetty extensions will be received. At the present plans for the barbecue and program indicate that the celebration will be held about the middle of October.

A special committee will be appointed to secure a large vote the following day, when Newport Beach goes to the polls to consider the question of turning over certain jetty and adjacent lands to the United States government, preparatory to the start of jetty extension work. Reports from several standing committees will be presented, notably those of the tax-finding and house-building committees, which have been working weeks compiling data.

PLAN BUENA PARK DINNER, CARNIVAL AND DANCE TONIGHT

BUENA PARK, Sept. 15.—Celebrities celebrating the second annual industrial parade under the general direction of Mrs. H. E. Buell held here today are to continue this evening with a barbecue dinner at 6 o'clock under the direction of Harry Horn and sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and in honor of Arch Raitt and his committee.

An old fashioned street carnival will be in charge of the chamber of commerce and American Legion post. Proceeds are to be used to help defray parade expenses.

A street dance, with Karl Brenner in charge, will conclude the evening.

MANY NEW RESIDENCES UNDER WAY IN LAGUNA BEACH AREA

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 15.—Inquiries at real estate offices and rental agencies in different parts of the city today brought out that never before in the history of the colony has there been such a general demand for housing accommodations. Because of this unprecedented situation, it was explained, fall and winter rates today are between 20 and 30 per cent higher than they were last year at this time.

The establishment of the high school here has attracted a number of home-seekers to Laguna. It was stated.

As a result of the unexpected demand for housing facilities, there is considerable building activity. Two new $5000 homes are being constructed near Victoria drive, one for Alfred T. Murray and the other for Frederick Stiegmeier, both of Los Angeles. A building permit was issued today to Miss Charlotte Field for the construction of a $1700 home at 460 Jasmine street. The contract has been let to Taylor Brothers. New homes now under construction at Three Arches are those of H. E. Purrier, of Burbank; Paul Egler, of Fullerton; Prof. F. L. Ransome of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena; Prof. J. D. Doyle, of Los Angeles; M. F. Cloyes, of Santa Ana; T. Elmet, of Norwalk; George D. Crane, of Los Angeles; and W. R. Brents, of Sherman, Texas.

BEACH SCOUTS ENTER POMONA FAIR EXHIBIT

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 15.—Newport harbor Sea Scouts, taking the place of the Santa Monica group, will be in charge of the Sea Scout exhibit at the Pomona fair it was announced today.

The local Sea Scout ship, the Vigilant, is too large to be on display, it was stated, and original plans to move it to Pomona were abandoned. Among the exhibits will be a display of knots and splices by Byron Marshall, 16-year-old scout; a model of a Spanish galleon made by Jack Vibert; model of a six-meter boat by Wayne Dye, and one of a tramp steamer by Ray Wallace.

Harry Williamson, local ex-navy man, helped to plan the display. Durrell Sablin and Wayne Dye are directing the work of installing the display and will be on hand during the fair to explain the work of the Sea Scout organization. The Newport Harbor troop is commanded by Byron Marshall sr., of Balboa Island.

Miss Mildred Marchant spent Sunday night and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bennett and daughters, Wilhemina and Mildred, at Eagle Rock.

MISSIONARY TO INDIA HONORED BY SOCIETIES

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 15.—Miss Agnes Dunn, missionary nurse in India, who has been enjoying a year's turlough in this country, was honored guest at the all-day meeting of the Home and Foreign missionary societies held in the Methodist Episcopal church Thursday.

At the opening of the afternoon's program, which was in charge of Mrs. Arthur Schnitzer, appreciation of Miss Dunn's work was expressed by Mrs. Schnitzer, presented her with a basket of lovely gifts which she will take with her when she leaves for India in October. Miss Helen Holt sang two vocal numbers in keeping with the occasion. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Virgil Sparks. Devotional were led by Mrs. E. P. Williams and prayer offered by the Rev. Grov or Ralston.

Luncheon was served at noon to 35 members by a committee consisting of Mrs. Fred Andra, Mrs. J. M. Chilson, Mrs. Flora Gerren and Mrs. W. B. Merchant. The occasion marking the birthday anniversary of Miss Dunn cake decorated in pink and white frosting, a gift of Miss Mettie Chaffee.

The business session of the Home society was conducted by Mrs. J. O. Arkley. Plans were discussed for a banquet to be given for the "mystery daughters" of the society on the evening of October 8 at 6:30 o'clock in the church, with Mesdames F. A. Monro, A. A. Schnitzer, Fred Ralston, and J. O. Arkley in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Robert McDonald, supply secretary, requested all members to bring canned fruit to the church next Thursday to be packed and sent to the different missionary homes.

Those in attendance were Mesdames Stroup, Barnard, Leda Haun, James Patton, H. O. Ensign, Flora Harris, Rose Burnham, Catharine McAvoy, Virginia Weddeweller, Charles Payette, F. E. Russell, C. Moreland and J. Dunning.

GALLERY WORK AUTHORIZED AT BOARD SESSION

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 15.—Important improvement projects, including the completion of the lower gallery and the installation of a suitable ventilation system, as well as changes in administrative policies, were discussed at the first board meeting of the newly elected officers and directors of the Laguna Beach Art association held Thursday night.

It was decided to have a survey made of the ventilating situation which, it was asserted, has resulted in complaints from visitors and thus adversely affected revenue from admissions to the gallery. It also was decided to proceed with the completion of the lower gallery, including the finishing of the walls for hanging space.

Marking a departure from the policies adhered to by previous administration was a decision to devote the entire lower gallery to one-artist or private exhibitions, to be changed every two weeks.

Hanging space for such exhibitions, it was determined, would be available to any recognized artist.

Another matter taken up by the directors was the organization of study clubs, the facilities of which would be open to all members.

Attending the meeting in addition to the president and the secretary, Roy M. Rapp, were John Hinchman, William Riddell, William Griffith, Clarence Hinkle, Thomas Hunt and Thomas H. Lewis, directors.

LA HABRA GROUP HOLDS LUNCHEON

LA HABRA, Sept. 15.—The opening meeting of the La Habra Woman's Improvement club Thursday featured a luncheon with prospective members and members of the Kiwanis club as their special guests. Following the luncheon, the afternoon was given over to a business meeting and program.

Mrs. H. E. DeNyse and Mrs. McEwin, of Riverside, were speakers during the afternoon. They discussed prisons and parole boards and spoke concerning pending legislative matters. Mrs. DeNyse spoke in detail concerning the Townsend Old Age Pension bill.

A fashion show and bridge party were planned for early in October, the date to be announced within the next few days. Mrs. Henri Clayton is chairman of this affair.

Charles E. Zaring, secretary of the La Habra Business Men's association, was present and explained the proceedings being followed out by the association for the purchasing of neon signs to be placed at the entrances to the city. He announced the benefit

Conduct Funeral Of Mrs. Sampson

COSTA MESA, Sept. 15.—Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from the Dixon Funeral home for Mrs. Elizabeth Sampson, 25, of Balboa, who passed away suddenly a week ago in her home at the Balboa Yacht club. The Rev. W. I. Lowe was in charge of the services. Interment was at Westminster Memorial park.

ENTERTAINS CLASS

LA HABRA, Sept. 15.—Mrs. C. B. Smallwood entertained recently with a bridge party at her home on Fullerton road, and had as her guests the members of the Tuesday club.

Prizes in the bridge games were won by Mrs. Douglas McGill, first; Mrs. Charles Shoemaker, second; and Mrs. Helen Clark, low. Others attending this affair were Mrs. P. B. Clark, Mrs. T. W. LaMonte, Mrs. Orville Proud, Mrs. Steve Smith, Mrs. Norton R. Skinner, Mrs. L. L. Clark, Mrs. W. D. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. J. D. Herman and the hostess.

Dance to be given at the Woman's clubhouse October 20 and was assured of the support of the club women in selling tickets for this affair.

BOOK REVIEWS

BY MARY BURKE KING

God's Pocket, by Rachel Field, published by the MacMillan company.

Rachel Field is chiefly remembered at this time for her book, "Hitty: Her First Hundred Years," a charming book for children which won the John Newbery medal in 1920 for being the best children's book for 1919. "Points East," published in 1920, narratives of New England in verse, was the first book this author published for adults.

This book, "God's Pocket," also a book for adults, is the story of Captain Samuel Hadlock Jr. of Cranberry Isles, Me., and of his second wife, the "Prussian Lady." Captain Hadlock took an Eskimo exhibit to Europe, where it was a triumph. He made money and he wooed and wed. Two Eskimos were part of the exhibit. When both of them died and a valuable box of his curios were stolen, Captain Hadlock rounded up his exhibition business and took his wife and infant daughter back to Cranberry Isles to his home folks. The author says that this was a greater curiosity to the Cranberry island folk than the Eskimos had been to the Europeans.

There are subtleties in the end of the book which will be appreciated by wives who have had, as did Hannah Caroline, experience with men with great schemes who were proud and boastful and foolhardy, though lovable. The last obstacle to Samuel's marriage with Hannah Caroline was that she should be a householder. So he built a house which he never lived in, and never intended to live in, in order to fulfill the requirement.

The last of his great ideas was to take a lot of stuffed seals to Europe and sell them to royalty. He set sail on the Minerva with some seventeen men to get more seals to round out his collection. Not one of them ever returned. Definite evidence was brought back to Hannah Caroline that the captain was dead, and the first thing she did was to take the stuffed seals and, with the help of a boy, dump them all in the sea. It was a futile and wasteful gesture, but it is a clear revelation of just the way Hannah Caroline was feeling at the time.

"Passion's Pilgrims" by Jules Romain, published by Alfred K. Knopf.

"Passion's Pilgrims" is the second volume of what is to be a long series of books with the general title "Men of Good Will." The title volume was the first. In that book there was gotten under way a long novel in which the author intends to depict life, as it is observed for example on a city street. The little shop girl, the man loitering at a street corner, the students, the politicians, the men of business, the criminals. The stories of such people as these are told. Others have attempted something of the sort, on a smaller scale, except that they have stretched the appearance of verisimilitude in order to establish unity. All Jules Romain hopes to show by his long study, in which he will introduce many, many characters is that there are definitely men of good will, men who contribute to the progress of the human race, whether their contribution is small or large, conscious or unconscious. By their very characters they constitute the men of good will.

The book is by no means a somber book, in spite of its promised length and serious intent. There are character stories to which one is glad to pay attention and in the case of most of them one becomes so interested that one is determined to follow their fortunes however far the author may extend them. The latter promises, by the way, that the succeeding volumes will move at a faster tempo. In these two he has been building the groundwork, the structure itself will go faster.

The New York Herald Tribune has said that the beginning of this work, "Men of Good Will" is one of the most important events in the history of contemporary literature.

ANN HARDING, TWO FEATURES
"HAROLD TEEN" SHOW THURSDAY
ON SAME BILL AT BROADWAY

Combining the drama of the love of a famous woman surgeon and a comedy with a comic strip character, Walker's State theater presents on its double feature program Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday Ann Harding in "The Right to Romance" and Hal Leroy in "Harold Teen."

Miss Harding has the role of a woman at whose heart love and romance seem to be always tugging, yet fame and fortune prove chains that bind her to professional duty. When she finally marries an emotional climax is reached when she is called on to perform a delicate operation on the beautiful features of the woman who is stealing her husband.

Others in the cast are Robert Young, for whom she gives up her career; Sari Maritza, the siren; Nils Asther and Irving Pichel.

"Harold Teen" is an exciting story with hilarious incidents depicting the joys and sorrows of young America. Hal Leroy in the title role does some of his specialty dancing for which he is famous. Rochelle Hudson is Lillums with Patricia Ellis as her rival for Harold's love. Douglas Dumbrille plays a wealthy man who is Harold's rival for Lillums.

Others in the cast include Guy Kibbee, Clara Blandick, Hugh Herbert and Hobart Cavanaugh. The program also includes a short comedy, "Cinderella."

Two big features, "Return of Bulldog Drummond," a comedy mystery melodrama featuring a brilliant cast, and "We're Rich Again," a fast moving farce comedy adapted from the hilarious stage play, "And Let Who Will Be Clever," will show at the Broadway theater three days starting Thursday.

Manager Lester J. Fountain explained that the showing of two features at the Broadway does not mean a definite change of policy, but it is done because of the pre-releasing of a number of big pictures, which would have to be passed up if not shown now.

"Return of Bulldog Drummond" deals with the adventures of an amateur detective who "sets in the hair" of Scotland Yard. There's a girl in the case for romance, a wily Oriental and his henchmen for thrill and mystery, and for comedy, the situation that ensues when a bridegroom must accompany the amateur detective on his hectic adventures rather than be with his bride on his wedding night. The cast includes Ronald Colman, Loretta Young, Warner Oland, Charles Butterworth, Una Merkel, C. Aubrey Smith and others.

"We're Rich Again" features such clever fun-makers as Edna May Oliver, Billie Burke, Marion Nixon, Reginald Denny, Joan Marsh, Buster Crabbe, Grant Mitchell, Gloria Shea and Edgar Kennedy. The picture recounts the happenings to a wealthy, aristocratic family which goes broke and how a country girl helps them out of their trouble and yet steals the love of the man the family plans for the daughter to marry. Joan Marsh has the important role.

A cartoon, "Buddy's Circus," and Register World News Events complete the program.

GAYNOR-AYRES
FILM TO SHOW
AT WEST COAST

"Servants' Entrance," an appealingly human story of a wealthy and beautiful heiress, played by Janet Gaynor, who, on the eve of her engagement to be married, disappears from home and society and after changing her name, embarks on a three month career as a servant girl, will show at the West Coast theater for a week starting next Friday, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Lew Ayres, who plays opposite Miss Gaynor, takes the part of a young inventor who has turned to chauffeur in order to support himself while he perfects a new type of motorboat.

The picture is a departure from the usual straight romantic role played by Miss Gaynor. Here comedy is blended with romance, and for the first time on the screen she is seen as a versatile and able comedienne. Her characterization ranges from the wistful romance to hilarious comedy.

The principals are supported by a cast headed by Walter Connolly, Louise Dresser, G. P. Huntley Jr., Astrid Allwyn and Siegfried Rumann.

Cab Calloway and his famous band in a novelty musical, "Hi-de-ho," the latest Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Orphan's Benefit," and World News events, are included in the short subjects booked with the main attraction.

GEORGE ARLISS
FILM SHOWING
AT WEST COAST

George Arliss, who has been on the screen in many unusual things in the way of characterization, enjoys a new experience in his latest and greatest picture, "The House of Rothschild," which is the current feature attraction at the West Coast theater and which will play "until next Thursday night."

In "The House of Rothschild," Arliss plays father to himself. Taking for its plot the rise to world power of the Rothschild family during the Napoleonic era, and stressing the loyalty and love between its members, the picture has been pronounced the biggest production in Arliss' string of successes.

There are more than 70 speaking parts in the film, the cast of which includes such screen luminaries as Boris Karloff, Loretta Young, Robert Young, Helen Westley, C. Aubrey Smith and others. The dramatic rise and fall of Napoleon is dramatically interwoven into the story of the famous Rothschild family, which achieves such power that its members are able to control the destinies of an empire.

With "The House of Rothschild" a special program of short subjects is being shown, including the famous Walt Disney Silly Symphony in color, "The Big Bad Wolf and the Three Little Pigs," a Paramount Radio Announcer's Revue, a journey "In Far Mandalay," and World News events.

FOOTBALL STORY TO SHOW AT WALKER'S

Inaugurating the football season Manager Vic Walker has booked "Saturday's Millions," a college football story as the main attraction at Walker's State theater next Friday and Saturday. Robert Young, Lella Hyams, Johnny Mack Brown, Andy Devine and Lucille Lund have the principal roles.

The program also includes the final chapter of the thrilling serial, "The Perils of Pauline," a news reel; a silly symphony, "Pied Piper," and a novelty "Vaudeville on Parade."

Musical and Spy
Films Here Soon

"British Agent," a story of a great love vying with almost fatal patriotism, set in the mad, chaotic background of the Russian revolution with a second feature, "Gift of Gab," which features drama, music and comedy, will play at the Broadway theater September 27, 28 and 29, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Leslie Howard and Beautiful Kay Francis head the large and talented cast in "British Agent." "Gift of Gab" features 30 radio, stage and screen celebrities.

It is practically impossible for human life to exist more than 60 hours without water, although it can continue, in certain circumstances, to exist for weeks without food.

"ONE NIGHT OF LOVE" SUNDAY
AT BROADWAY

Grace Moore's sensational screen triumph in the star role of Columbia's "One Night of Love," heralded by a fanfare of praise by critics and previewers, will mark one of the bright spots of the current cinema season when it opens at the Broadway theater tomorrow. Positively, Manager Lester J. Fountain said, the picture will show but for four days.

Miss Moore's radiant personality and beautiful singing voice which has been hailed from the stages of the La Scala Opera House in Vienna, the Opera Comique in Paris and the Metropolitan Opera in New York, has now found an enthusiastically responsive audience in the millions of movie-goers in the United States, Fountain said.

The character of "Mary Barrett," which Miss Moore creates in "One Night of Love," is said to parallel to a degree her own remarkable life story. It relates the adventures of a young, ambitious girl in Italy studying for an operatic career who rapidly climbs the ladder of fame until she reaches the crest with her debut at the Metropolitan.

Supporting Miss Moore, in the role of the amorous music instructor is Tullio Carminati, and Lyle Talbot, as the American playboy in Milan. Others in the large cast are Mona Barrie, Jessie Ralph, Nydia Westman, Andres De Segurola and Rose Marie Glosz. It is said to be the most intelligent musical picture ever to come out of Hollywood.

With "One Night of Love," a special selection of short subjects will be shown, including an Ernest Truex comedy, "Doggone Babies," a Paramount oddity, "Superstition of the Black Cat," and Register World News events.

TWO FILMS END AT BROADWAY TONIGHT

For the last time tonight two big features, "Wake Up and Dream," starring Russ Columbo, and "Smarty," featuring Joan Blondell, Warren William and Edward Everett Horton, will show at the Broadway theater.

Roger Pryor and June Knight have important parts in support of Columbo's first and only starring picture, which is a riot of music, fun and nonsense, with a romantic background. Short subjects include a Pop-Eye cartoon, "Axe Me Another," and Register World News events.

Mae West Film To Play West Coast

The latest Mae West starring vehicle, "Belle of the Nineties," will show at the West Coast theater starting September 28, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain. The new picture is said to be the most entertaining film in which the popular blonde actress has ever starred.

One layer of a new metallic foil made of aluminum has such good heat insulation qualities that it is equal to 13 inches of brick.

Wedding Date Selected
To Observe Parents'
Anniversary

Verifying their friends' surmises as to the engagement of Miss Waukena Hawthorne and Edward N. Lane, Mrs. Charles F. Hawthorne and Miss Marjorie Hawthorne entertained last night in the Doris Kathryn, complimenting their daughter and sister, Miss Waukena, and making formal announcement of the betrothal and approaching wedding date.

It was a party of charming appointments in which carnations, gladioluses and stocks were mingled with artistic effect. Miss Hawthorne, receiving with her mother and sister, was gowned in soft rose crepe with slippers to match. Tables were placed for the bride, and when play was concluded, the tally cards in sweet pea design, revealed special scores held by Mrs. H. K. McIlvain, Mrs. C. R. Walters and Mrs. Amel McBroom. Prize awards ranged from vases, one in rich blue glass and the other in pottery, to a framed silhouette in feather work.

Mrs. William A. Atkinson, a cousin of the hostesses, assisted throughout the evening, and one of her pleasant responsibilities was distribution of gardenia corsages to the guests. To each corsage was attached a card bearing the message, "Edward and Waukena, September 26." Choice of this wedding date was a special compliment to the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hawthorne, 1033 West Eighth street, for it will be their thirty-fourth wedding anniversary. Mr. Lane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Lane, 611 West First street, and is proprietor of the soda fountain at the McCoy Drug store, 302 West Fourth street. He and Miss Hawthorne may look back to the beginning of their romance on the High school campus.

The refreshment hour at last night's party, was a lively one as guests discussed the romance and the approaching wedding. They were seated around the small tables, arranged with lace doilies, flowers, nut cups and tapers in pink and white, for the enjoyment of ice cream, coffee and daintily iced cakes.

The mother and daughter hostesses received, in addition to their honor guest, Miss Waukena Hawthorne, Mr. Albert F. Lane, mother of her fiancé, Mesdames H. D. McIlvain, Howard Fuller, William A. Atkinson, C. R. Walters, William Almas, Ethel Thompson, John Hartke, George Vaughn, William Campbell, E. Swan, Leland Coon, G. N. Coon, Edward Grothier, Betty Adams, Amel McBroom, Dorothy O'Donnell, Mabel Woods, Josephine Fletcher, Miss Cora Holt, Miss Gladys Larnor, Santa Ana; Mrs. William Ma-deira, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Harold Viela, Fullerton; Mrs. Horace Manger, Irvine, and Mrs. H. W. Adams, Puente.

Editor Women Begin
Activities With Installation

Installation of officers came as a feature of the meeting this week with which Edison Women's committee of Santa Ana division began activities for the year in the home of Anne Glotzbach, 120 East Chestnut street.

Those taking office were Anne Glotzbach, division chairman; Mary Belle Adams, associate chairman; Thelma Jane Leonard, recording secretary; Kathryn L. Faye, Bortz, treasurer; Dorothy Rose Young, librarian.

The program for the year was laid out and committees appointed to take charge of monthly sessions.

Preceding the meeting, members were conducted through the Holly Sugar plant and shown the process of extracting sugar from beets. The group was divided into four sections and taken through the plant by H. B. Henderson, G. M. Cover, L. T. Pryor and L. M. Mills.

The next meeting of the committee will be held in October. The "relations with other clubs committee," of which Olive Lund is chairman, will be in charge. Jo Herman and Lila Eamay will assist in planning the event.

Neighborhood Group
Participates in Event

Until recently residents on La Collina Drive, Tustin, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tournat and son, Ivan Tournat, now have moved back into their former home, 806 North Olive street, where a welcome home party this week was given in their honor by a group of neighbors.

Extending this friendly gesture, the self-invited guests had all in readiness for an enjoyable evening. Flowers for the occasion were colorful dahlias, provided by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Snyder from their own gardens.

Games were played. At the close of the evening, refreshments of punch and cake were served. Taking part in the hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Snyder and son, Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Guthrie, Miss Margaret Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Stonebarger, Miss Ruth Stonebarger, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Richards, with Mr. and Mrs. Tournat and Ivan Tournat.

Bride's Chapel Lends
Setting to Evening
Wedding

More than 100 guests assembled last night at First Methodist bride's chapel for the ceremony at which Miss Jessie Warburton, daughter of Mrs. Christine Warburton, 619 North Van Ness avenue, became the bride of Norman McClay, son of Mrs. Delbert Davenport, 1426 North Garnsey street.

Palms and large baskets of asters in delicate tints formed a decorative background for the ceremony, read at 7 o'clock by Dr. George A. Warner, pastor. Mrs. Jack Kahler at the piano, played Lohengrin's Wedding March following a violin solo, "O Promise Me" by the bride's sister, Miss Peggy Warburton.

Harry Warburton, San Diego city councilman, gave his daughter in marriage. She was lovely in white French organdy, fashioned with girdles in a full skirt and a bodice made with ruffled detachable collar. For her "something borrowed" she wore a filmy veil belonging to Mrs. George Dierberger, a bride of little more than a year. Her handkerchief, the gift of a friend, was the something old and "something blue" was provided by a bracelet sent for the wedding by her grandfather, Mrs. J. Mackenzie of Vancouver, B. C. She carried a bouquet of white bride's roses and breath of heaven.

Mrs. Harold Burrier, matron of honor, wore blue georgette. Bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Warburton, in yellow French organdy; Miss Jean McClay, in blue chiffon; Miss Helen Hamilton, pink organdy. The attendants' frocks were matched by the dainty lace handkerchiefs which they carried as gifts of the bride. Their flowers were various colored sweet peas and baby breath in identical Colonial bouquets.

Jack McClay attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Robert Davenport and Richard Hewitt.

Twenty-five guests had been bidden to a reception held in Mrs. Warburton's home on North Van Ness avenue. Flowers and other appointments conformed to a pink theme. Bride and bridegroom figures topped the tiered wedding cake bore special significance, since they had been made by her own wedding confection.

Assisted by Miss Peggy Warburton, and Mrs. L. M. Hamilton, Mrs. Warburton served sherbet with cake, which had been cut by the bride.

The newly married couple are spending their honeymoon at the U. S. Grant hotel in San Diego, and are enjoying special privileges at the San Diego club, 1550 Sixth avenue. They plan to make their home in this city, where Mr. McClay is with the Burgess Refrigerator company. Both he and his bride are graduates of Santa Ana High school and of the local Junior college.

Workshop Players Will Meet in The Barn

Plans for their program next Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Workshop group of Santa Ana Community Players' association, were made at an informal meeting held this week with Miss June Arnold, 1024 West Chestnut street.

The newly formed group chose its officers with Miss Arnold as president, Glenn Shaw, vice president; Miss Florence Brownridge, secretary, and Miss Jeanette Bodman, treasurer. Plans were made tending towards the development of talents and interest in acting, directing, make-up costumes, lighting, stage setting and play writing. Membership will be open to all young people interested in these varied activities as a part of Community Play association work.

Tuesday night's meeting will be held in The Barn and the program will include songs by Harry Layton with Joy Lee Henderson as accompanist; readings by Emma Williams, and two short comedies in which members of the group will take part.

ROMANCES OF SOUTHLAND CULMINATE
IN IMPRESSIVE WEDDING CEREMONIES

Mrs. Hubert Marston

Mrs. John Martin Schweng

The first day of September was chosen by Miss Doris Schurr, granddaughter of Mrs. Ella M. Apgar of Garden Grove, for her marriage to Hubert Marston, son of the A. C. Marston of Santa Ana, Nevada, the young people exchanged vows before the Rev. Harry Pressfield, pastor of the M. E. church of that city. The bride chose for the rite, the smart navy blue suit which she was to wear on her honeymoon, embellishing it with a spray of gardenias. Lake Tahoe, Mono Lake and the Yosemite valley were all included in honeymoon plans. Mr. and Mrs. Marston will live in Garden Grove where the former is owner of a service station.

Schweng now of Los Angeles, for on Labor Day of this year, they were wedded in the home of Mrs. Schweng's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Leander, East Orangehorpe avenue, Fullerton. They first met on Labor Day and last year became engaged on that holiday. Since it was at Catalina Island, they met, it was to that favorite vacation land that they returned for their honeymoon. They will make their home in Long Beach and Dr. Schweng will resume his duties as head chemist at the Ambassador Chemical laboratories Los Angeles.

Orange county is losing an attractive young bride to Montebello in the person of Mrs. Irving Tuttle, formerly Miss Cleora Thomas, daughter of Mrs. James D. Convery of Seal Beach. For while Irving Tuttle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle I. Tuttle, 1206 South Birch street, Santa Ana, and a graduate of Santa Ana High school, he accepted a position in Montebello after completing Junior college work in Long Beach. He and Miss Thomas were married on September 1 in this city by the Rev. Harry Egan Owens, pastor of First Baptist church.

Adding another to the long list of Orange county brides who spoke their wedding vows in Yuma, Miss Dorothy Melton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Melton of Irvine, was wedded recently in the Little Arizona city to Robert Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Harris of El Toro. Both young people are graduates of Tustin Union high school. Mr. Harris is an employee of Santa Margarita ranch and will resume his duties there when he and his bride return from their honeymoon and take possession of a pleasant suite awaiting them at Rosa del Mar apartments, San Clemente.

Upper classmen will include Philip W. Newman, son of the Carl V. Newman, Irvine boulevard, who continues a family tradition by his choice of a university. For both Mr. and Mrs. Newman are Pomona graduates as is their older son, John Newman. Philip Newman has been singled out for the honor of presidency of the Associated Students this year.

Norman Watson will enter upon his sophomore studies and Roy D. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, will enter his senior year. Miss Dorothy Penman and Miss Alice Borchard, (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Borchard) also will be seniors, while Junior class members will include Miss Louise Moulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moulton, El Niguel ranch; Hugh Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Walker, and James Parker Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Wilson, Panorama Heights, who will take over the post of business and advertising manager for the Pomona College daily, "The Student Life."

Continuing their work at Pomona are Franklin Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burke of Panorama Heights and a senior member of the college swimming team; Miss Betty Duntun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Duntun, 1532 East Fourth street, president of the Juniors, class of 1936; Robert McFadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. McFadden, of 1108 North Main street, enters his second year as a member of the class of 1937, while George Munro, son of Mrs. Emily Munro, 1722 North Bush street, and Miss Mary Nau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nau, 296 South Birch street, enter Junior class standing. George Munro is manager-elect of Debate and Oratory at Pomona college this year.

Weston Sprague, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague, 1929 Victoria Drive, Bob Sprague, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sprague, and Bill Sprague, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sprague of 1617 North Main street, will be sophomores. Andrew Wilson, son of Mrs. J. Dick Wilson, 630 South Birch street, will be a senior and head manager of Pomona College athletics.

From Tustin will enter Arthur Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nelson, Red Hill avenue; Edgar Pankey, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Calumpit Auxiliary

Calumpit Auxiliary Sewing Circle held an all day meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Bertha Helmer, 1961 West Third street, enjoying a covered-dish luncheon at noon. The day was spent in sewing.

On the hostess committee with Mrs. Helmer were Miss Lella Latson and Mrs. Clo Showalter. Other members present were Mesdames Luella Randle, Elvira Kirtz, Bess Moberly, Mae Glaze, Maud Brown, Alice Gae, Jean Tantlinger, Estelle Dresser, Ruth Heas, Catherine Haskell, Edna Hannah.

Guests were Miss Geraldine Heas, Miss Margaret Showalter, Master Bobbie Glaze, H. C. Moberly, A. P. Dresser, William Brown, H. B. Haskell and C. W. Hannah. Men of the party played cards during the day.

Newlyweds to Return
Here Before Going
To Iowa

Planning to make their home in Iowa, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming, Miss Mabel Marie Horning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dayton, former Washington, Ia. residents now living at 608 West Highland street, and Ralph Kohleick of Ainsworth, Ia. were married Tuesday, September 11 in this city.

The ceremony took place in the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. John Stivers, 709 South Birch street, pastor of Orange Avenue Christian church. Close friends of the couple were guests.

The bride wore brown chiffon velvet with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Kohleick left for a honeymoon trip to Sequoia National Park. They will return here for a short visit with Mrs. Kohleick's parents before going to Iowa to make their home.

Birthday Event Honors
Grandfather And Grandson

Fourteen years ago when Everett De Voe made his arrival in the world, his grandfather, George W. Vaughn, was celebrating his own birthday anniversary. This week the two observed their natal days together, the occasion marking Mr. Vaughn's 90th anniversary.

Mrs. Helen De Voe, mother and daughter of the two celebrants, presided as hostess at a supper in their honor, entertaining in her home, 419 Franklin street. Ice cream served with the dessert course had been provided by Mrs. Andrew Medford of Midway City, another daughter of Mr. Vaughn.

Children of the party enjoyed playing outdoor games while others spent a social time indoors with music and conversation. Mrs. De Voe played organ numbers, and there was group singing. Mrs. Anderson of Santa Ana Gardens came in for honors during the evening, since she also was celebrating a birthday.

Participants in the event were George W. Vaughn, Everett De Voe, the hostess, Mrs. Helen De Voe, Anna and Johnny Myracle, Jimmie Spain and Richard Lage, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Santa Ana; Mrs. G. W. De Voe, Santa Ana; Mrs. Andrew Medford, Midway City; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hammond and son, Price Hammond, Anaheim; Mary Eugene, Willa Mae and Fern De Voe of the home.

Mr. Vaughn has been a member of First Baptist church since 1880. He has walked from his home on Franklin street to the church every Sunday for the past twelve years, missing but one service during the past five years. California has been his home for more than 18 years.

Ebell President Takes
Motor Trip Before
Club Opening

Preliminary to entering upon the duties of her second year as president of Ebell society of Santa Ana, Miss Mrs. Charles V. Davis, 1615 North Broadway, experienced an interesting vacation trip in company with Mr. Davis and their daughter, Miss Barbara Jane Davis.

Driving north to Bakersfield, the Santa Anas proceeded to Yosemite and from that point to Lake Tahoe where they were guests at the Tavern. While there they had the pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morrow and Mrs. Susan Rutherford, who are vacationing at Tahoe. The meeting was a coincidence as the Morrow party drove by just as Mr. Davis took off on the golf course. Several pleasant dinners and luncheons followed before the Davies left the mountain resort for San Francisco and the return drive down the coast.

The trip was especially enjoyable for Mrs. Davis as a change from exertions of club duties which have continued through the summer despite cessation of Ebell programs. Renovation of the clubhouse and re-decorating of various rooms have demanded unremitting attention of the president and her co-workers. Return to Santa Ana was in time for the formal opening of the club year, when Miss Josephine G. Seaman, president of California federation of Women's Clubs, was entertaining at luncheon. Presidents of other organizations, including Mrs. Rose Walker of Business and Professional Women's club, and Mrs. Don Park, representing Junior Ebell society, were introduced.

Asked to share in the event with Mrs. Schreff were the honorees, Miss Gardiner, her mother, Mrs. J. A. Gardiner, Mr. Dwyer of mother, Mrs. W. H. Dwyer.

Cabinet Plans Annual Dance for Freshmen

Meeting to plan the annual dinner dance for freshman girls, members of Santa Ana Junior college Y. W. C. A. cabinet were guests of Miss Naomi Wheeler, president, Thursday at a dinner and slumber party given in her home, 999 West Broadway, Anaheim.

Zinnias brightened the living room and made a colorful centerpiece for the attractively appointed table. Mrs. Rena F. Wheeler, Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler.

Woman's Club Reveals
Plans for Benefit
Garden Party

Plans are virtually completed for a benefit garden party which ways and means committee members of Santa Ana Women's club are giving Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. D. McIlvain, 248 Riverside Drive. Open to all clubwomen and their friends, this party promises to be an interesting prelude to the club's winter program. The McIlvain gardens are unusually lovely, as Woman's club members have learned through the various affairs which they have been privileged to hold there. Trees lend their shade and varieties of flowers now at the height of their autumn blooming, promise their colorful background for tables arranged for bridge or such games as guests wish to play.

The party will begin at 1:30 o'clock when a dessert course will be served before guests turn their attention to the games program. Mrs. F. B. Hornbeak, chairman, Mrs. G. G. Lawrence, Mrs. Jacob Bohlander, Mrs. Herbert Johnson, Mrs. J. D. Watkins and Mrs. E. M. Waycott, comprise the ways and means committee and will be assisted in hostess duties by Mrs. R. G. Carman, new president of the club, and Mrs. McIlvain.

A very nominal sum is being asked for tickets, as the committee feels that the party will be a more pronounced success if everything is done with simplicity. Prizes for special scores are being donated by the committee, as are the dainties of the dessert course. Proceeds will be added to the fund for club expenses.

Tea Comes in Advance
Of Departure for Flintridge

Bringing together a group of friends in advance of her departure next week to enter Flintridge School for Girls, Miss Roberta Horton was hostess at a bridge tea Friday afternoon in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Horton, 702 South Broadway.

Pink, blue and yellow were colors evident in all appointments including baskets of early fall blooms arranged throughout the home. Tables for auction bridge were placed in this setting, with prizes for scoring high and low going to Miss Margaret Sawyer and Miss Beth Emison.

To Miss Margaret Sawyer had been accorded the honor of presiding at the tea table, lovely with its lace cloth, silver service, and tapers rising from candelabra. Flowers arranged as an effective centerpiece were from the gardens of the home of Miss Horton's grandmother, Mrs. George Edgar. Sandwiches, French pastries, mints and salted nuts were served with tea. Mrs. Horton assisted her daughter in all hostess details of the afternoon.

Guests received by Mrs. Horton and Miss Roberta Horton included the Misses Jean McClay, Jewel Thebo, Erlene Farmer, June Licht, Margaret Sawyer, Barbara Duntun, Fern Berkner, Betty Melton, Evelyn Shepherd, Beth Emison, Marie Lewis, Gwen Griffin, Margaret Paulson, this city, and Miss Jane Dickerson, Glendale.

Miss Horton will take up her senior year studies at Flintridge next Wednesday.

Torosa Rebekahs

Meeting Wednesday night in I. O. O. F. hall, Torosa Rebekahs devoted almost the entire evening to a dance and card party. Mrs. Esther Brown, noble grand, was in charge of a short business interval.

Pajamas, asters and marigolds decked the hall for the occasion. Music for dancing was furnished by Harry Bransberger's orchestra from Anaheim. Mrs. Gladys Garvin, Miss Bessie Potter and Mrs. Adeline Harrell were on the dance committee.

Mrs. Laura Kesemann and Mrs. Martha Vandewalker were in charge of arrangements for card games. Prizes for scoring first and second high in 500 were won by Mrs. Nannie Myers and Mrs. Eleanor Pickett. Mrs. Kesemann scored high at bridge.

Punch and wafers were served during the evening.

Announcements were made that Mrs. Bessie Stoval, district deputy president, will make her official visit to Torosa Rebekahs Wednesday, September 19, at 8 p. m. in I. O. O. F. hall and that Donna de Noche club of the lodge will give a benefit card party Wednesday, September 19, at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Claude Brown, South Sycamore street.

mother of the hostess, assisted in serving.

Following dinner, officers for the unfilled position on the cabinet were appointed, their names to be withheld until the dinner dance, Monday, September 24.

Present were Mrs. Missa Joanne, Clark, Ruth Christ, Suzanne Wood, Doris Rockwell, Elizabeth Woods, Eleanor Bowyer, Naomi Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler.

Couple Wedded in City
Of Bride's Former Home

Choosing to be married in picturesque Laguna Beach where she made her home several years ago, Miss Beulah Covell, now of Santa Maria, became the bride of Wallace B. Doty of the same city yesterday at noon in St. Mary's Episcopal church.

The rector, the Rev. Robert Hogarth, read the ceremony in the presence of a little group of guests including Mr. and Mrs. George Phelps and James Craven, Laguna Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Carl May, Los Angeles; the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Phelps of Santa Maria, former residents of Tustin and Laguna Beach.

The bride was attractively gowned in a blue and grey suit, with a harmonizing corsage boutonniere. She was unattended.

Complimenting the newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Phelps were hosts at a wedding luncheon at the Mad Hatter cafe.

Mr. and Mrs. Doty went to Catalina for their honeymoon planning to make their home in Santa Maria where Mr. Doty is with the New York Life Insurance company.

The new Mrs. Doty is well known in this community, having lived in Santa Ana, Tustin and Laguna Beach during the past several years. She is a graduate of Tustin Union High school.

Arbor Vitae Club Has Afternoon of Bridge

Arbor Vitae club members were guests Thursday in the home of Mrs. C. Raymond Walter, 714 Hickory street, where bridge was played during an enjoyable afternoon. Mrs. Charles Hawthorne held high score.

Mrs. Walter used sweet peas and other flowers in decorating for the occasion. Refreshments were served at the card tables.

It was decided to entertain husbands of members as special guests at the next meeting, a picnic scheduled for 5 p. m. Thursday, September 27 at Jack Fisher park.

Present were a special guest, Mrs. C. B. Hill, and club members including the hostess, Mrs. Walter and Mesdames Harry McIlvain, Howard McIlvain, G. N. Coon, Albert Lane, Edward Grothier, Peter McIntosh, Leland Coon, Charles Hawthorne, William Almas, William Madiera, Elmer Swan.

Royal Neighbors

Magnolia Camp

Plans for their new winter campaign were outlined this week when members of Magnolia camp, Royal Neighbors, met in the M. W. A. hall. Instructions for the drive had come in from Mrs. Christiana Hamill of Los Angeles, state supervising deputy.

Since this year brings the 40th anniversary of the founding of Royal Neighbors, it was decided to observe a birthday theme during all meetings this winter. The Southland campaign was started this week in Fullerton I. O. O. F. hall.

C. D. Henderson, drill team captain, outlined plans for a new club which will act as sponsor for the team. Mrs. Pearl Laub, oracle, was in charge of the business meeting, during which initiation of eight new members took place. Herbert Birt won the prize of the evening.

It was announced that Magnolia Circle will have an all-day meeting September 27 in the home of Mrs. Norma Manderscheid, south of Santa Ana; that the last picnic meeting of the season will be held Monday, September 17, at 3:30 p. m., at Irvine park, with dancing to music furnished by the camp orchestra to follow covered-dish dinner; that the next regular meeting of the camp, Monday, September 24, will be preceded by a 6:30 o'clock covered-dish dinner in M. W. A. hall.

Fall flowers arranged at each station decorated the hall for the occasion. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held in the Costa Mesa home of Mrs. George Waterman.

First Presbyterian
When members of First Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Southeast section met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. O. Scott McFarland, 303 Orange avenue, they entertained as special guests Mrs. C. H. Baird, president of the General Aid, and leaders of other sections of the society.

Mrs. Alfred Schultz, leader, conducted a business meeting, with Mrs. R. J. Blee giving devotionals. Miss Marian Pletke played piano solos. Mrs. Sarah Speck, who returned recently from an extended stay in China with her son-in-law and daughter, gave an interesting account of her visit.

Refreshments were served.

Executive Board
Naming September 28 as the date for a reception honoring parents and teachers of Woodrow Wilson school, executive board members of the P.-T.-A. of that institution met yesterday afternoon in the teachers' room of the school. It was decided to give the party at 8 o'clock in the evening, with the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the Orange Christian church, as speaker.

Mrs. Fred Thompson was elected treasurer to fill a vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Philip L. Londe. Plans were made to have a nursery at school for children while mothers attend P.-T.-A. sessions during the year.

Mrs. Russell Adkinson, president, was hostess at the social hour, serving refreshments of home-made ice cream, cake and coffee. She decorated tables with red roses.

Present were Mesdames Russell Adkinson, Clifford Cole, H. J. Becker, Paul Ragan, H. L. Thornburg, L. J. Neuhitt, E. A. Russell, H. C. Drumm, E. B. Carmichael and Miss Bertha Barclay.

Announcements
Quill Pen club will meet Tuesday, at 7:45 p. m., with Mrs. Marshall Harnois, 414 East Walnut street.

MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Sunday Night Supper

Tomato Juice Cocktail with

Deviled egg canapes

Creamed Mushrooms with scrambled eggs on toast points

Baked Tomato halves with cheese

Sponge Cake Mould filled with sliced fruit and cream

Coffee and tea

Calories for diet meal, 475.

Season chilled tomato juice with lemon juice, salt, pepper, a dash of tobacco and Worcestershire, and a pinch of sugar. Add a spoonful of chopped ice to each serving.

Hard-boiled eggs, run through grinder or ricer and season lightly with prepared mustard, salt, pepper and a little cayenne. Mix to a soft paste with mayonnaise and spread on toasted crackers at serving time.

For six servings make 3 cups of rich cream sauce. Empty a tall can of mushrooms, rinse, slice, and saute in butter for ten minutes, then add to the hot cream sauce. Scramble 1 egg for each serving, adding 1 Tbsp. of milk for each egg. Pour scrambled egg on hot plates, pour over a generous quantity of mushroom sauce and garnish with toast points. The baked tomato is put on the same plate.

Sponge Cake Mould with Fruit: Bake or buy a sponge cake baked in a ring mould. With a sharp knife, enlarge the center space and place on a serving plate. Fill the center with diced canned peaches, maraschino cherries and pineapple, and frost the whole thing with stiffly whipped egg white (2) mixed with whipped cream (1 cup), sugar, and sprinkled with coconut.

Note: The diet allowance permits a slice 1 inch wide at the outside edge. A mere silver, as 'twere.

After that harnessed feast it is only fitting that an announcement of the Safe and Sane Reducing Diet should follow. This fine diet will take off what you put on, provided you stick with it a reasonable length of time. You may have a copy free of charge, all we ask is a stamped, self addressed envelope for mailing purposes. Along with a copy of the diet you may have a fine big Calory List (350 items) but this costs you a copy of one of your favorite recipes. Soups wanted especially, and hot breads.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Angel Pie

1 baked pie shell

1-2 cups boiling water

1 cup sugar

4 level Tbsps. cornstarch

Pinch of salt

1-2 tsp. almond extract

2-3 tsp. lemon extract

2 egg whites, beaten dry

1 cup cream whipped to a fluff

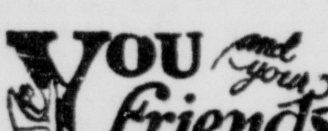

2 Tbsps. chopped blanched almonds or walnuts.

Boil water and sugar together, add dissolved cornstarch, stir constantly until cooked to a smooth thick paste. Take from fire and cool before adding flavoring extracts. Whip egg whites with the pinch of salt and whip into the cornstarch mixture. Pipe into the pastry shell and chill. At serving time, frost with whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Cut in six sections the pie has a value of 450 per serving. Cut in eight pieces, the individual total is about 225. Since so much fat and sugar go into this pie, it is a high energy food, one to be avoided by the Pleasingly Plump.

Au revoir until Monday.

ANN MEREDITH.

YOU and your Friends

Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Leecing, 2117 North Flower street, are leaving this week and for two weeks' automobile trip north. They plan to go to Portland, Ore., and perhaps further up the coast. Crater Lake, Mt. Hood, Mt. Shasta and San Francisco are among places they expect to visit.

Little Miss Patsy Jean Billups arrived yesterday from the California Limited from Trinidad, Colo., where she spent the summer with her mother and uncle, Mrs. Virginia dePree Billups and Robert dePree. Miss Patsy, who is six years old, made the trip alone, and will take up her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. dePree, 422 South Flower street. Mrs. Billups and Robert dePree leave this week and for New Orleans, La., where they will be in stock theatrical productions until Christmas. They will come back to Santa Ana for the holidays.

MONDAY PROGRAMS OPENED BY CHURCH

One of the outstanding musical wonders of the Chicago World's fair, the Victor theremin, a strange instrument without keyboard, strings, reeds or pipes, and which the player does not touch, will be the central attraction of an entertainment by the Mills duo, recording artists and radio singers, who will appear in the auditorium of the First Christian church Monday evening at 7:30.

The theremin, according to Frank Pierce, director of the program, produces its tones exclusively by electrical means, without contact from the player. Professor Mills will use it in the rendition of various well known selections during the evening, said Pierce.

Mrs. Mills, Pierce stated, is one of the most talented whistlers and readers before the public today. Her ability is said to have attracted the children especially to the Mills programs.

The Mills duo has had charge of the music at the annual Iowa picnic in Bixby park, Long Beach, for the past four years, being heard there last year by an audience of 50,000.

The program Monday evening is open to the public, said Pierce. There will be a silver offering.

Isaiah on False and True Worship

Text: Isaiah 1:10-20
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 15.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

The contrast between form and reality in religion, between religion in ritual observance and religion in heart, life and daily conduct, has been present in every age.

The tendency of religion to express itself in forms and symbols seems to be inherent in religion or in man. Everywhere religion in its expressions has taken on such forms and symbols, and even the barest, most Puritan, sort of Christian worship is not entirely free from them.

I suppose, if we could trace the origin and history of all religious symbolism and ritual, we should find that originally the form had meaning and reality for the one who used it; but the tendency is constantly for such forms to lose their original significance or reality.

What was originally done with deep sincerity and meaning becomes simply a lifeless ritual or practice.

Nor is that the worst side of the matter. Often regard for the forms and the ritual observances of religious habit becomes far more insistent than the moral and spiritual realities, and even men of religion will have hate and violence toward one another in their controversies and quarrels over matters of form rather than reality.

The illustrations in Scripture are surely strongly in mind. One recalls how the formal literal observance of the Sabbath had become so exaggerated that the minds of certain bigots that they would have been willing even to kill Jesus because he healed the sick and disabled upon the Sabbath day.

An illustration in more modern times is the story, probably fictitious, of pirates who attacked a ship, murdered the crew, and were indulging in revelry and wassail when they were suddenly conscience stricken, realizing that they were eating meat on a Friday.

Is being used by school pupils. Mrs. Minnie Marquis of Los Angeles, sister of Mrs. R. E. Larter, was a recent houseguest in the Larter home and is remaining over for the Westminster Pioneer picnic, Monday.

Mrs. A. G. Snow has signed up for a beauty culture course at a Long Beach academy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore were hosts at an evening at cards, with Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Kirkham and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson as guests.

Mrs. May Montgomery and the children have returned from Bakersfield, where they spent the summer with Mr. Montgomery who is employed in the oil fields there.

Miss Cora Fowler and Elmer Fowler of Culcan, Mexico, paid a farewell visit to local friends recently as they were leaving at once to return to their home following a six weeks stay in California. They are former Westminster residents.

Mrs. Emma Stanfield of Olive, sister of Mrs. M. B. Eder, was a guest for several days in the Eder home. They were joined for one day of her stay by their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Borchard of Anaheim and their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Borchard of Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Ritchey have returned from a vacation of several weeks spent at San Luis Obispo with relatives and on a fishing and camping trip into the mountains. Mr. Ritchey took over the management of his cafe at New Westminster with his return Friday.

Marian Prindle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Prindle sustained a severely cut knee Thursday while roller skating, and six stitches were necessary to close the wound.

Mrs. Louise Joselyn and young daughter plan on leaving soon for Yosemite National Park to join Mr. Joselyn, who has been employed there through the summer and will remain for the winter season.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Day and family have returned from a vacation trip to Yosemite.

The beauty shop at the home of Mrs. Isabelle Penhall on Westminster avenue in Westminster has been opened by Miss Camille Christopher, who this summer graduated from a Santa Ana academy. The new shop is christened The Camille, Miss Christopher is a junior in the Huntington Beach Union High school and will carry on the local beauty shop outside of class hours.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Sept. 15.—Roscoe Bradbury, teacher in Oceanview school, has returned from Sacramento, where he spent a week attending the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Myrtle Graham and daughter, Edna Myrtle, of San Pedro, visited Sunday in the Frank Ulrich home and accompanied by Miss Cleo Ulrich and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Thomas, motored to Newport Beach.

day. Such an illustration is extreme, but it signifies what has happened very widely in a lesser way.

This was the condition in Israel of Isaiah's time: The people had become much more concerned about outward observance than upon the vital matters of truth and honesty and justice, and it was under these circumstances that Isaiah uttered the plain words of our lesson. They strike home to mind and conscience with keen and startling reality.

Isaiah says that religion does not consist in outward reverence and observance of certain forms. He dares to dramatize the Almighty and to put on the lips of God the command for real cleanliness of life and the denunciation of formal profession of religion on the part of those whose hands are dripping with the blood of injustice.

How strikingly the words apply to our own age! "Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes, cease to do evil; learn to do well; seek judgment, relieve the oppressed; judge the fatherless; plead for the widow."

The lesson does not end, however, on the note of denunciation and command. Deeper in the religion of a God of love and mercy is the note of appeal and the assurance that there is forgiveness. "Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool."

Here we have set before us the profound realities of religion in their height and in their depth. The teaching of the lesson is not that oblations and sacrifices are necessarily vain, nor that forms and symbols in religion are altogether to be avoided. These things are perhaps in some measure matters of temperament and inherent attitude on the part of the worshipper.

The teaching, however, is clear and plain that, where the deeper realities of morality and spirituality are lacking, form and ritual can have no meaning.

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Noah's Ark.—From the time of the murder of Abel to the time of Noah the Bible devotes considerable space to the genealogical records of the descendants of Adam. One of these descendants, Jubal, was the first musician; and another Tuba-Cain, was the first worker in brass and iron. Adam lived nine hundred and thirty years, and Methuselah reached the record age of nine hundred and sixty-nine years. But old as these patriarchs were they failed to learn wisdom with their years, and "the wickedness of man was great in the earth." Gen. 6:6, we are told, "And it repented the Lord that He had made man on the earth, and it grieved Him at His heart." Determined to wipe out the whole race and make a fresh start, God chose Noah, his wife and their three sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth, for survival. Noah was instructed to build an ark to hold his family, together with male and female representatives of each species, and provisions for them all. In this picture Merian portrays the completed ark, with the animals entering it, while Noah prays for divine guidance.

"Hey, Duncy, that's a real mean trick," cried Goldy. "You think you are slick! Why did you have to sneak off in that small boat, all alone?"

"We also like to ride, you know. Please come right back and let us go." "Oh, no," replied Duncy, in a tantalizing tone.

"You're always playing tricks on me. I'm getting even, now, you see. I'll ride around an hour or so. Then I may come to shore."

"In that time I may grow tired out and be real glad to quit, no doubt. However, if I still feel good and fresh, I'll row some more."

"All right for you," said Dotty. "I'll remember that you passed me by. Sometime you'll ask a favor, but I'll turn you down. You'll see!"

"We thought you were a real good friend, but on you we cannot depend." In answer to her shouting Duncy merely laughed in glee.

Soon Scouty cried, "Oh, look! He's found an island. It is small and round. I'll bet he's going to land there so that he can take a rest."

"He's having fun, just teasing us. He just wants to start a fuss, so let's not say another word. I think that will be best."

So they all sat down on the shore, and shortly heard wee Duncy roar, "Hey, don't you wish that you were here, out on this little isle?"

"It is a funny place I've found. I'm going to land and walk around. If you behave, I may come back and get you, after while."

His boat then landed, with a smack. The island was a hippo's back, and both the beast and Duncy got a very sudden scare. The Tinymites heard Duncy cry, and saw the hippo rise up high. In just a moment Duncy and the boat were tossed in air.

BREA

BREA, Sept. 15.—Newcomers to Brea are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sherman of Long Beach, and their two daughters, one in high school and the other in the Brea grammar school. They have taken a house at 124 South Madrona. Mr. Sherman is employed as a mechanic in the White Chevrolet agency garage.

Mrs. J. E. Bergman has returned home from a four weeks' visit with her cousin, Mrs. Frank Barnes, at Downey.

Raymond Woodruff of Maywood is in Brea at the home of his aunt, Miss Lucy Craig, and has enrolled at the Brea grammar school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harris Newman have moved from the Wilson property, 329 South Madrona, to the Emmet Hill property, 419 South Madrona.

Mrs. D. W. Goodwin has received news of an accident to her father, J. C. Gourley, at his home in McKeesport, Pa. Mr. Gourley was picking plums and fell fifteen feet to the ground, breaking his right wrist in two places. Mr. and Mrs. Gourley have spent the last two winters in Brea with Dr. and Mrs. Goodwin, making the trips by automobile.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Letha Kelly and son, Bobbie, of San Antonio, Texas, Mrs. Bettie Harris, Mrs. Ruth Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Graham and son, Junior of La Habra, and Mr. and Mrs. Walker Tillman of Redondo Beach, held a picnic Sunday.

Mrs. M. H. O'Connell's nephew, Merton Cook, of Sheridan, Wyo., will spend the winter with his aunt here and attend the Fullerton Junior college.

Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell and two children of Taft, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Vandenberg of North Cypress street.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 15.—With between 8 and 10 tons of nuts already delivered at the packing house, seasonal activities of the Anaheim Walnut Growers' association will get under way Monday, according to Manager Walter Ross.

Ross said yesterday that the expected 350-ton output for this season is probably the shortest crop. The shortness of the crop, however, will be offset to a large degree by the quality of nuts.

He will attend a meeting of the association in Los Angeles September 22, at which time the minimum price for this season will be established. He stressed that loss of license is the penalty for selling nuts below the minimum price established, and said that all nuts must crack 90 per cent perfect.

He said that as a 30 per cent surplus is expected this season, no house will be permitted to market more than 70 per cent of the crop during the early part of the season.

The agricultural broadcasts, scheduled each Monday at the same hour, will be the topic of the Agricultural Extension service and farm advisor's office.

ELKS HOLD FIRST OF CARD PARTIES

ANAHEIM, Sept. 15.—Bridge players of the Elks lodge and the public will have their first card party of the season tonight, according to Dr. H. H. Neville, chairman of the lodge's bridge committee. Proceeds from the party and others to follow will be used in securing prizes, Neville said.

The party will start at eight o'clock. According to the chairman, a novel feature of the party tonight will be the distribution of players. Experienced players will play the north and south directions with inexperienced players east and west. This he claims will give both the experienced and inexperienced players equal opportunities.

TEXTILE STRIKE FORESHADOWS
BREACH

A most serious breach between the national administration and American Federation of Labor may be seen in the offing. The textile strike is developing into a test between the industrialists and the American Federation of Labor. General Johnson, the N. R. A. administrator appointed by President Roosevelt, declares that the textile strike is "in absolute violation" of an agreement made by General Johnson with Thomas McMahon, president of the Textile Union. Mr. Johnson seemed in his utterances to be vehement, as he frequently is, in his statements and spoke feelingly on behalf of George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute who is really the head of the owners and operators or at any rate has been responsible primarily for the adoption of the textile code and a great deal of the apparent good that has come from it.

General Johnson is quoted as saying, "if such agreements of organized labor are worth no more than this then that institution is not such a responsible instrumentality as can make contracts on which this country can rely." We are not quoting General Johnson because we have so much faith in his friendliness to organized labor nor do we have much faith that his expressed opinions are always the result of meditation and calculation, but we are quoting him because he speaks for the President and if this be the opinion and decision of the President, the national administration will array its moral influence, which may result in the army itself, against the strikers.

We do not know exactly what occurred at this meeting where Mr. Mahon is charged with making an agreement which Johnson urges that the strike violates. Neither do we know how far McMahon had authority to speak to the textile workers. The blunderbuss and staggering statements that General Johnson makes so often leads one to doubt in any case, but it is a most significant situation. We do not know what Mr. McMahon's defense will be but it looks as though the President will have to back General Johnson up or Johnson might just as well eliminate himself from his position.

It is another situation that has developed in which the President is going to find it difficult to keep on both sides of the question. General Johnson has been able to retain many of the industrial leaders for the administrators while Attorney Richberg and the President have been keeping the labor union men in line. It is one of the political marvels of the age that we are far into the second year of the administration of Mr. Roosevelt and his personal attitude on this as on a number of other things, is a matter of argument and dispute. It may be that Secretary of Labor Perkins will help out, she often has under similar circumstances.

THE WHOLE PICTURE OF TAX
MORATORIUM

Until the full text of the measure is before us we cannot accurately discuss such a measure as the moratorium on evictions in California. But the bill which was introduced by an assemblyman from Los Angeles provides that holders of liens on special assessment districts are estopped from proceeding against property owners delinquent in special assessments. It provides that even pending proceedings shall be suspended for the length of the moratorium period. This is until the last day of February. The idea probably is that the legislature then being in session, it can provide for any future need of the property owners. This of course, does not apply to any city or government unit which is delinquent for in such case there are no evictions and cannot be in the nature of the case.

The division and extension of the payment of taxes also will be a great help to many taxpayers though it will correspondingly increase the difficulties of the problems confronting municipal authorities. In fact, any legislation such as has been enacted which suspends present laws to check creditors in recovering funds due them militates against such creditors whether they be public or private parties. In the case of private parties it also seriously injures the whole credit structure. We are not saying this in criticism of this legislation, it is undoubtedly necessary and helpful but we are merely pointing out the facts so that a more complete picture may be had.

MR. HOOVER STATES TIME RIPE FOR SOME CHANGES

Monday we commented at some length on the first of Mr. Hoover's two articles in the Saturday Evening Post on liberty and the methods of the present administration. This week, in his second article, "Consequences to Liberty of Regimentation," Mr. Hoover shows that he very evidently favors some of the legislation of the present administration. Very possibly, of course, Mr. Hoover would not favor certain provisions in the laws which have been passed, but he does acknowledge the necessity of marked changes.

Mr. Hoover states: The depression has brought to the surface a number of weaknesses and abuses in the economic system. . . . Reform and revision of our older regulatory laws in banking, commodity and stock markets, transportation, utilities and natural resource industries are absolutely necessary. This statement, coming from a man who was an opponent of President Roosevelt for election, and who passed through the experience of national executive and is looking on from the sidelines is both significant and reassuring.

FILMING DAVID COPPERFIELD

An announcement has been made that Dickens' story of "David Copperfield" is soon to be filmed in Hollywood. The success of "Little Women" has been so encouraging to the magnates of filmdom, that they are beginning to look for more period stories capable of being screened.

The latest news is that a search is being made in Canada for a boy who has the English accent of the period in which the story is written. A writer in the Manchester Guardian suggests that they pick up any capable boy in the slums of our American cities. More likely there, rather than in Canada or in England, will they find their boy.

These period stories like "Little Women" and "David Copperfield," furnish Hollywood a very rich vein.

All these period stories cannot be staged or screened. In many of them the operations of the human mind cannot be pictorialized. The screen especially needs a plot in which there is a great deal of action. Some years ago, Helen Hunt Jackson's "Ramona" was filmed; but we understand it was a failure. This can be easily explained on the ground that the story, while very interesting as reading, does not lend itself to action on screen or stage.

But there is abundant material to be drawn upon in these period stories. All it needs is that some discerning writers should be put to work to produce the scenarios. We predict that there will be money in it for the Hollywood managers.

RELIEF PROGRAM TO BE BURDENED WITH POLITICS

The legislature has adjourned after passing all the legislation contemplated. The administration of the twenty-four million dollars to be raised by the issuance of bonds which is to be before the voters for their action in November is to be administered by a commission. This commission will be appointed by the governor. The only restriction on the appointees is that they shall not be now in public office. It insures however the control by the administration. Mr. Northrup, the administrator, who is a direct representative of Mr. Hopkins, national welfare director, is an ex-officio member of the commission. This gives him a voice but little more.

This will take the place of the present S. E. R. A. set up. It is very likely to throw this question into politics in this campaign with considerable of vengeance as it practically means the administration of the funds by the governor whoever he may be. This probably could not be avoided in any case.

LAKE ELSINORE HAS A SEA
MONSTER

There will be a trek to Lake Elsinore this Sunday. Its a nice drive. We may go ourselves. But we don't expect to see the sea monster. There has been a lot of fun over the monster seen in Scotland. It started tourists to Lock Ness. But California always did "grow 'em" bigger than anywhere else, and we suppose that can be applied to fruit or stories or sea monsters.

A sea monster one hundred feet long with a thirty foot tail that started waves as high as light posts is something to see on an inland lake. Anyhow the stories have served to make people Lake Elsinore conscious and therefore have served a purpose and none should be resentful of being gullible.

Fire at Sea

New York Times

A year after the Titanic disaster Sir Wescott Abel, then chief engineer surveyor of Lloyd's Register, published a study of "Sea Casualties and Loss of Life," which covered vessels registered in the United Kingdom and engaged in foreign trade. Shipowners learned that from 1890 to 1913 vessels ran a greater danger from fire than from any other cause. With storms naval architects were coping more and more effectively, but the disasters occasioned by fire had increased by 150 per cent. That the picture has not changed since the publication of Abel's work is shown by a table for the year 1932 which was compiled by the French Bureau Veritas and which shows that out of 329 casualties no fewer than 266 were traceable to fires that broke out in cargoes, fuel tanks or bunkers, electrical apparatus and propelling machinery.

The regulations adopted by the Second International Convention on the Safety of Life at Sea in 1929 were drawn up with a full recognition of the risks that modern ships run. The increased hazards introduced by the use of oil have been met. There are automatic fire alarms in the cabins of most modern passenger ships. Nearly all vessels of 2,000 tons or over are provided with the Rich system, which indicates by the actual appearance of smoke on the bridge exactly in what inaccessible spaces of the hold fire has broken out. More-over flames can be smothered in cargo spaces by steam under control from the bridge. It must be admitted, however, that insurance underwriters are not wholly pleased with the donkey boiler on which many cargo-carrying Diesel motorships depend. The British Board of Trade insists on carbon dioxide gas and permits the use of steam only in the holds of steam-driven freighters. Luckily, the United Steamboat Inspection Service rules are stringent enough to meet all reasonable demands for safety—luckily, because the United States Senate has not yet chosen to ratify the provisions for passenger vessels adopted at the last International Convention on the Safety of Life at Sea.

It is for experts to decide how the horrors of fire at sea can be averted. Since the burning of the Atlantic and the Georges Philippa, discussion has been free in societies of naval architects. Protests are even heard against the lavish use of ornamental woodwork and against inflammable hangings. Mr. George G. Sharp, an authority on naval architecture, questions whether modern luxury apart from its danger, serves its purpose—whether the relaxation that we associate with a sea voyage has any relation whatever to Louis XIV furniture. These matters may become the subject of inquiry at another international convention. In the meantime it is probable that the United States Steamboat Inspection Service will stiffen its rules so far as the superstructure is concerned. It is regarded by naval architects as the weakest spot of the American passenger ship.

Standing In His Own Light!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TO A NONEXISTENT PIG

Little pig that might have been,
Had you lived last year,
You and thousands of your kin
All might still be here,
Standing at the packer's gate
Many a morning through
Never dreaming of the fate
That awaited you.

Unsuspecting little shoat,
If you had been born,
You'd have gorged your greedy throat
Every day with corn,
Romping with your porcine kind,
Waddling here and there,
You would have upon your mind
Neither grief nor care.

But you were not born to die
In a narrow stall,
You were not, and I know why,
To be born at all,
Because the dear old A. A. A.
Has sent from town to town
An order packers must obey
To cut the pigbage down.

You, I think, had all the luck,
You missed life's fret and fuss,
No keen and cruel knife was stuck
In your esophagus.
Your chance of happiness was small,
Existence is but vain;
Far better not to live at all
Than live but to be slain.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

PORTRAIT OF A PUBLIC SERVANT

The other day in a Wisconsin village a gray little man died. For six years he had been a member of the governing body of the university of which I am the executive head. His service on this board seemed to me to set an ideal for all time for men who serve upon such bodies that have vital public services under their governance.

As a type of public servant, his portrait deserves to be painted for the guidance of public servants throughout the nation.

In the six years of his regency, the loyalty he gave to the University of Wisconsin was never diluted by any personal or political considerations that might have indirectly run counter to the best interests of the University and its service to the State.

When issues of wide public concern were before the Regents, he never stopped, as men sometimes do, to ask what the press would say of his vote or shaped his share in discussion to capitalize some popular prejudice.

He was concerned only that his judgments be just, and that his expression of them might make for a sounder and more serviceable University for the sons and daughters of all classes and all conditions of men.

He seemed always to feel that his first responsibility as a Regent was neither to the Governor who appointed him nor to the political party that happened to control the State at any given time, but to this youth of the State.

His mind had the humility that makes for openmindedness, the curiosity that makes for careful analysis, the courage that makes for a willingness to venture on new trails, and the responsibility that makes for reliable action.

If every Regent of every state university and every Trustee of every privately endowed university measured up to this gray little man's superb qualities, the nature of American education would be vastly enriched.

THE GAY BOY

A happy youth spreads joy wherever he goes. When a carefree, healthy youngster strides down the street, a spring in his step, the light of youth in his eyes, the breeze blowing his tousled hair into waving sunlight, the weary faces of time worn people light up, their bent shoulders straighten. Happy, healthy, carefree youth is a tonic to all who come close to it. We cannot have too many such boys.

But we have a few, and no matter how small the number it is too large, who are gay boys. One lately suspended from college came in to see me and complained about the old style Dean of Boys who had thrown him out. The Dean had sent him home to think things over, wise man that he was.

"Why did the Dean send you down?"

"He had a hate on me, I guess. Anybody who has a little life in him gets his ire. I'm a live wire myself. Like a good time once in a while. After all I'm not my own grandfather. I have to have a little fun. A little fun doesn't hurt anybody. You can't be Johnny-on-the-Spot all the time."

"No. You can't. But you haven't told me what you did that brought the Dean down on you. What did you do that he refused to stand for any longer. He is a very understanding man where boys are concerned."

"Well, he thinks I smoke too much."

"Do you? How many a day?"

"Maybe-fifty-maybe-O, it depends. I know I do smoke too much but I can stop that. Any time. It isn't that I have formed the habit."

"Your body is soaked in nicotine. You carry the odor about with you. That always indicates excessive smoking. What else?"

"He thinks a drink or two is awful. I told you he is an old maid. No smoking, no drinking, in bed every night by ten. That's the gay program he laid down for me and of course I couldn't stand for that."

So that was it. Out every night until dawn in spite of the rules. Smoking and drinking to excess. Attending to the gay life he thought so much and letting his splendid youth go by unused, unappreciated. A fine boy of nineteen going to the dogs because he thought it smart to laugh at the professors, at the rules, at everything and everybody opposed to his program.

Fathers and mothers devote their best years to rearing their children. They go without things they long to have, they need to have, in order to send their children to college. Every once in a while one of these gay boys appears. Totally unconscious of anything but their own cheap desires they waste all this sacrifice, devotion and opportunity.

Public opinion is against the gay boy. Nobody wants him in any responsible relationship. College does not want him, business and industry has no use for him, friends shun him. When the money that feeds the gayety runs out, he is out. If the gay boy would only consider the price he is paying for this nonsense, he would take hold of himself and go over to the other side. Healthy, eager, mounting youth is such a joy, and such an inspiration. How can any intelligent boy make such a mistake?

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
